

Tri-State Fair To Have Randall County Exhibits

Again this year a space has been reserved at the Tri-State Fair for an agricultural exhibit from Randall County. The space is 8x10 ft. in size. No special theme or subject has been selected so agricultural products grown in Randall County in 1952 will be displayed.

The quality and attractiveness of this booth will depend on the products offered for exhibition. John Brazzil, County Agent, will assemble the products but they must be selected and brought in first.

Here is a list of some of the products needed: potatoes, onions, carrots, tomatoes, pumpkin, watermelon, egg plants, squash, cantaloupes, peppers, okra, rhubarb, cucumbers, sugar beets, and fruits, sorghum head, corn, and wheat.

Anyone having some of these products that could be used to make an attractive exhibit will be boosting Randall County by offering attractive products for the agricultural booth. Please call John Brazzil, County Agent, before Sunday and he will give more information on individual products and will display the products at the fair.

Delbert Dalby, president of the Tri-State Fair, has designated Saturday, Sept. 27, as Canyon and Randall County Day at the Fair. He is requesting that West Texas State observe this day and close class work so that the students may attend the Fair. The Buffaloes will play McMurry College in Amarillo that night.

First P-TA Program Is Installation and Social Thursday

Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Canyon High School cafeteria the Canyon Public School Parent-Teacher Association will meet to install new officers for the new year and have its first social of the year.

Mrs. James P. Cornette, outgoing president, will open the meeting. Mrs. W. E. Miller will be installation officer.

A sing-song will be directed in such a manner by Mrs. Lee Foster that all parents will become acquainted with each other and with the teachers.

Mrs. Crews Henry, who has been an ardent worker in the P.T.A., is the newly elected president. She will assume office with a corps of capable assistants who will have a goal of high achievement set by the outgoing officers with which they will have to compete.

All parents are urged to attend. Your faculty will be there.

Fire Destroyed House at Umbarger Friday Morning

A vacant house was burned to the ground Friday morning at Umbarger. There was a considerable amount of furniture stored in the house, which was in good state of repair.

The Canyon fire department was called to the scene, but the house was too far gone by the time the boys arrived. E. J. Friemel was owner of the house.

Car of Tom E. Knighton Is Hit

While returning from their teaching work at the Amarillo Air Field Saturday morning, the car of Tom E. Knighton with three other instructors was hit by the driver of an Amarillo car. Considerable damage was done in the sideswipe.

The driver of the Amarillo car fled from the scene but was picked up Sunday when the Knighton riders procured the number of the car. He was arrested by Amarillo police.

ATTENDS FUNERAL OF AUNT

Miss Pearl Black returned home Monday night from Wolf City where she had been called by the death of an aunt, Mrs. J. T. Tarleton. Burial was made on Sept. 5.

First Classes of W.T. Fall Session To Open

Hundreds of students were settling down at West Texas State College this afternoon after getting moved into dormitories and houses and registering for classes, ready for the fall semester to begin.

Registration began Tuesday morning and was completed today, with sophomores and upperclassmen enrolling the first day, while freshmen took psychological and English tests. Freshmen enrolled Wednesday. All registration this fall was conducted in the new library building.

WT faculty members met for a breakfast and business session early Monday morning in the college cafeteria. President James P. Cornette introduced several former members who are now retired, and the ten new staff members who joined the college for the first time this year. Faculty returning this year after a year's leave of absence for advanced study, were welcomed back.

Classes at WT start Thursday morning, and the first college assembly is slated at 10 a. m. in the Administration Building Auditorium. An orientation meeting of all men enrolled in the new ROTC unit, will be held at 2:30 p. m. in the auditorium, with the meeting to be conducted by Lt. Col. Raymond H. Lumry, professor of military tactics and tactics.

The traditional freshman mixer will be held about 8 p. m. Thursday in Buffalo Stadium.

Barnard Celebrates 85th Birthday

W. F. Barnard, 1107 4th Avenue, celebrated his 85th birthday Sunday, the 14th. His birthday came on Monday, the 15th, but for the sake of convenience the celebration was held on Sunday.

Approximately 40 people, all children and other close relatives, attended the celebration. Some of those attending were from Abilene and Oklahoma, as well as Canyon.

On the 14th of next month Mr. and Mrs. Barnard will celebrate their 66th wedding anniversary. The couple has reared ten boys and four girls. They are also proud of their 33 grandchildren, 45 great grandchildren and one great-great grandchild. The one great-great grandchild lives in Amarillo.

Meeting Boosts Canadian Project

Governor Allan Shivers was unable to deliver the opening address at the water board meeting in Amarillo Wednesday but he did say a few words before he boarded his plane for Austin. The Governor said he knew of no political question in this part of the country that a two inch rain would not settle.

At present the water board is jockeying to get into position to obtain an appropriation of funds in 1954. Speakers at the meeting were Representatives Walter Rogers of Pampa and George Mahon of Lubbock, and Attorney Bryce Huguenin of Dallas.

Huguenin is from the firm of Dumas, Huguenin & Boothman of Dallas. He explained the intricate legal problem of getting action started on the Canadian River dam and also getting the legislation through so that action could begin on the dam project.

A committee was selected to start procedure toward setting up a water district. Another necessary step will be to have a person or a group of persons authorized to go to Washington and sign a contract or agreement with the government. Attorney Huguenin said the government would not listen to anyone who was not properly authorized to enter into a legal agreement.

Although it is rather late for towns other than the original eleven that signed the pact, to get into the deal and obtain water from the dam, Canyon is trying to get some of this water. At least eight Canyon people were present at Wednesday's meeting.

Those present from Canyon were Mayor A. L. Walsh; City Commissioner Herschel Coffee; Secretary-Manager of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce Glenn Waggoner; President of the Chamber of Commerce Clark Jarnagin; and directors of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Charles Nester, Dr. Ples Harper, and Clarence E. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ike Cowell and son, Dale, of Phillips, spent the week end in the Jack Barnard home.

Trap Shooting Now Practiced On VFW Grounds

Luke Miller, commander of the local V. F. W. post, recently announced the opening of the club's trap shooting activities. Some people have been out doing a little shooting during the past two Sundays, Luke said. Miller said everyone interested in doing some practice shooting was invited to attend these sessions at the V. F. W. Club grounds.

The club commander pointed out that this was a good opportunity for hunters to limber up their shotguns and also practice up on their marksmanship. At times during the past prizes have been given in connection with the trap shooting activities. Whether or not prizes will be given this year is strictly up to the people, Miller said.

One of the things pointed out was the fact that this is the beginning of the fall hunting season. Dove season is now open; quail season is to open soon, and following that will be duck season. Hunters who expect to get their limit of this game at a minimum expenditure of ammunition should get in practice. The V. F. W. trap shooting range was described as an excellent place for these people to get that much needed practice.

Randall County Six Inches Short Annual Rainfall

"Randall County is about six inches short of its usual annual rainfall," County Agent John Brazzil said last week. The small amount of moisture that fell during Thursday and Friday was not enough to be of appreciable help to wheat crops that are to be used for winter pasture.

Brazzil said that area which was not irrigated required about 21 inches of rainfall per year. This year the amount of rainfall has been about six inches below this figure or 15 inches. This means that dry land farming was practically a total loss for this year.

The county agent pointed out that this was not as bad as it may appear. Those farmers who have suffered a crop failure have seen other times that were as bad or worse than this. Most of the farmers who have lost their money crop have other crops that will tide them over.

Those who are hardest hit are people who are speculating on cattle and other livestock, Brazzil pointed out. These men lost their feed crop, where it was not irrigated, and the drought prevented native grass from making. Then to climax their unfortunate situation feed prices zoomed upward so that feeding out cattle with purchased feed was a losing proposition.

Brazzil said that most of the other counties in this area are in about the same condition as Randall. He said there was an exception up in the vicinity of Spearman where enough rain to really do some good was received recently. However, this was described as a very small area.

4-H Club Baking Contest Won By Alby Ann Kuehler

Alby Ann Kuehler was winner at the Randall County 4-H baking school held in Canyon Saturday afternoon. She will represent the 4-H club girls of the county at the girls baking contest in the Tri-State Fair at Amarillo next Saturday.

Each girl entered frosted cup cakes and rolled cookies. Alby Ann ranked first with her cookies, while Doris Bourn ranked first with her cup cakes. Alby Ann had the highest average; Cecelia Friemel had the second highest average. Other girls entering the competition were Joy Gray, Margaret Friemel, and Betty Friemel.

Miss Edna Graham judged the contest scoring each entry carefully. The girls were given their score cards to use in improving their products.

Farm Bureau Leads Fight to Save Roads

Texas Farm Bureau Federation, working in cooperation with other groups such as Judges-Commissioners Association and Rural Letter Carriers, "saved" millions of dollars for rural road building purposes in Texas for the years 1951 and 1953, through a vigilant and active program of work carried on while the 1951 State Legislature was in session, according to G. A. Dietz of Happy, president of the Randall County Farm Bureau.

Legislation was introduced, Dietz said, that would have taken from the counties every penny of the road bond assumption money, which is expended by the Commissioners Courts in the counties, and would have discontinued the appropriation provided under the Colson-Briscoe Act, which is used by the State Highway Department to build farm-to-market roads. The movement led by the Farm Bureau specifically saved $7,300,000 in road bond assumption money for the State of Texas each year, and $15,000,000 Colson-Briscoe Funds.

Let's see what this means to Randall County, the farm leader said. "We will get $22,914.77 road bond assumption money in 1952 and again in 1953. We will get 4.6 miles of farm-to-market roads each of these years, built with Colson-Briscoe funds. Conservatively speaking, it costs about $10,000 a mile to build these Farm-to-market roads, and this will mean about $46,746.13 a year that this county will receive from this source.

"If these groups had not fought the battle that saved this road money, it would have been necessary to raise taxes in Randall county to build the roads, if we had any roads built," Dietz declared.

Certain groups have an eye on this road money and another fight will be waged in the next legislature if this money is retained for rural roads, Dietz predicted.

Fire Destroyed D. E. Murphy Home South Of Amarillo Friday

The D. E. Murphy home in McMurry Acres, south of Amarillo, was burned to the ground Friday night. The family lost all of their clothing and furniture, in addition to the home.

Mr. Murphy was at his work in the Santa Fe yards at the time of the fire. His wife and two children, 5 and 8, were at a picture show.

Neighbors met Saturday night and raised a fund to supplement the partial insurance on the home.

Friends of the family request that funds, clothing or furniture which may be donated to the Murphy family be left at the office of County Judge Burney Slack at once.

Collision Sends Three to Hospital

A highway accident which resulted in three being sent to the hospital occurred Saturday night some six miles north of town. The collision occurred about 9:45 in the evening when one car rammed into the rear of another car on Highway 60 and 87.

None of the three men who received hospital treatment were believed to be seriously injured. Those receiving hospital treatment were Conrad Martinez, Ramon Martinez, and Cullin Taylor. The car driven by Taylor was hit from behind by a car driven by Ramon. Roy Walton was a passenger in the Taylor car. He was given first aid and sent to Tulia in an ambulance. Taylor and Walton were reported as living in Tulia.

Conrad Martinez, no relation to Ramon, was released from the hospital after being treated for minor injuries and abrasions. Ramon Martinez was held longer to determine whether or not he was suffering from internal injuries.

Those investigating the crash said that damage was extensive to both vehicles.

GOES TO CLINIC

Mrs. J. M. White was taken to Houston Saturday by her husband, Mr. White, and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Shirley White. She has been under treatment in the clinic with prospects for an operation Thursday.

Mrs. Ethel Shaw has returned from her camp at Ward, Colo., to resume her work in West Texas State.

Claude Moore Buys Half Interest in Cole & McGahey

Announcement was made last week of the retirement of Glenn McGahey as a member of the firm of Cole & McGahey. No announcement was made as to his successor in the business at that time.

Ray Cole states that he has sold the interest of Mr. McGahey in the business to Claude Moore, who has been connected with the business for several years.

At the present time the firm name of Cole & McGahey will be continued.

Charles Stratton states that his last remaining aunt was dead at Richardson. She was Mrs. Newt Stutz, who had reached the age of 83 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gibson of Magdalena, N. M., are visiting in the Edd Reynolds home.

C. C. Stewart Funeral Held Tuesday p. m.

The funeral for C. C. Stewart was held Tuesday afternoon in Amarillo. Mr. Stewart, 70, died Monday morning at an Amarillo hospital where he had been a patient for a week. He has been in failing health for about a year.

The funeral services were in charge of Dr. E. B. Fincher of the Southern Presbyterian Church, Amarillo.

The family moved to the Zita community in 1918 where it has been prominent in civic and religious affairs. Mr. Stewart was a member of the Methodist Church and of the Kiwanis Club in Amarillo.

Survivors include the wife, Mrs. Ethel Mae Stewart; four daughters, Ina Stewart, employed in the PMA office in Canyon, Mrs. H. H. Groom, Midland, Esther Stewart and Mrs. Homer W. Oliver, both of Dallas; and a son, Ray Stewart, Amarillo.

Four Are Held on Robbery Charge

Another robbery by assault charge was lodged against four persons in Mrs. W. J. Flesher's court in South Amarillo. The charges were filed last week against Lynn Couch and his wife, Velma Couch, Clifton Lowe, and Lester Hall, said Deputy Sheriff Lem Pounds.

Victims of the assault and robbery were Gary D. Jennings, Airman third class; Reese, Airman third class; Vaughn, of the Lubbock Air Force Base, and Lieutenant Betty Sprague of San Angelo.

According to the report of the deputy sheriff these people were walking toward Amarillo on North-east 8th Street. A car with a man and a woman in it was said to have stopped and asked if they could give the pedestrians a lift.

The soldiers said they wanted to get to a bus station and catch a bus to Lubbock. At this time the people in the car pointed out that they were from Plainview and could take the soldiers that far and perhaps even on to Lubbock. The soldiers got into the car with the man and woman and they drove to the Nugget Cafe on East 10th in Amarillo, the soldiers reported later. Here they said the woman got out and made a telephone call.

In a short time a second car containing two boys was said to join the soldiers and the man and woman in the first car. Both cars started out of town south on Fillmore. At 34th and Fillmore the cars were reported to have left the highway to the left instead of continuing on toward Lubbock.

The cars were said to have gone about 1 1/2 miles into the country before they stopped. The soldiers were reportedly beaten up. Three wrist watches and approximately $100 in money was said to have been taken.

While the fight ensued one of the soldiers wrote the license number of one of the cars in the sand. A check of the number revealed that the car belonged to Lynn Couch of Plainview. Still another check showed that Couch and his wife had left Plainview Sunday and had not returned by Monday.

A pick-up order was broadcast and in about half-an-hour the car was located by officers on Roosevelt Street in Amarillo. Couch and his wife were in the car. Questioning of their activities brought out the fact that Clifton Lowe, a brother of Mrs. Couch, and Lester Hall were the other two involved in the assault and robbery.

The accused persons were identified from a police line-up and charges were filed and bond for the accused persons set at $5,000 each in Mrs. W. J. Flesher's court. No bond had been made by noon Thursday so the accused persons were still in jail.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mack Return from Visit in Scotland

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mack returned Monday night from their vacation trip to Scotland where they visited with the family of Mr. Mack.

They flew from Amarillo to New York, where they took the Atlantic Ocean in one flight, and returned the same way.

They found the family of Mr. Mack in good health and greatly enjoyed the trip, states Mr. Mack.

Mrs. Nell Findley Leaves Next Week

Mrs. Nell Findley will leave next week for Philadelphia where she will study under the Ford Foundation. She was selected by the Foundation among teachers from 400 high schools.

According to her present plans, Mrs. Findley will be joined next summer in a trip to England by her husband, member of the West Texas State faculty, for study.

J. S. Humphreys Died Suddenly At Family Home

DR. JOHN S. HUMPHREYS

Dr. John S. Humphreys died suddenly at the family home, 1810 Third Avenue, at 11:30 Tuesday morning. The funeral will be held at the First Baptist Church Thursday but the time has not been set, awaiting the arrival of a son and daughter.

Dr. Humphreys was able to drive down town Monday afternoon, but suffered stomach trouble that night. He did not recover from the attack.

Mr. Humphreys was 82 years of age. He retired from the West Texas State College faculty in 1942 where he had served as registrar and as head of the Department of Latin and Foreign Languages since 1921. He had previously served as president of Howard Payne College at Brownwood, 1901-1913; president of Burleson College, 1913-17; president of Marshall college, 1917-21.

He had been very active in church and civic affairs until poor health caused his retirement. He was a member of the Rotary Club, and was chairman of the building committee of the Baptist Church when the building was erected.

He received degrees from Georgetown and Harvard.

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Sue Hite Humphreys; one son, Samuel Humphreys of Houston; one daughter, Mrs. Thos. A. Shivers of Nashville, Tenn.; six grandchildren.

Grand Jury Will Meet Friday for A Final Session

The grand jury has been called back into session on Friday of this week to hear a number of pending cases.

A new grand jury has been called for the session of court which starts on September 29.

Judge Henry S. Bishop was here Saturday and heard ten cases which were pending in court.

Funeral for Linda Ann Graham Held Wednesday p. m.

Little Linda Ann Graham died Monday morning at 4:45 o'clock at the Neblett Hospital. She has been suffering from an incurable disease for several months, and has been confined to a hospital in Dallas before being returned to Canyon. Blood transfusions have been given to the little girl at regular intervals.

The funeral was held at 2 o'clock. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Griggs ducted by Rev. Martin J. Hartenberger of the Amarillo Lutheran Church, assisted by Joe Watson, minister of the Canyon Church of Christ.

Linda Ann was six years, eleven months and eight days of age. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Graham of Canyon; grandmother, Mrs. Albert Graham of Kisco, N. Y.; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Condgan of Endicott, N. Y.

The funeral will be in charge of the Griggs-Warren Funeral Home of Canyon. Interment will be in Llano Cemetery. Pall bearers are Loyd McAtee, Gerald Warwick, Ed Harvey, Mark Foster.

Showers Missed This Area During Week

No rain has fallen in this area since last Wednesday when the total moisture was 30 of an inch during the day.

The temperature has greatly moderated due to the advanced season of the year, and the fact that heavy moisture bearing clouds hung over this section. However, the air currents did not force the clouds to turn loose of the moisture.

It is still dry in the Panhandle!

SINGING SUNDAY

The Randall County singing will be held at Fairview Sunday, Sept. 21, at 2:30 o'clock. Everyone is cordially invited.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Truman Approved of Stevenson Before the National Convention

A person learns a lot of things when he attends a political meeting, such as was held at the Palo Duro Park Sunday night, and listens to the opinions as expressed freely and frankly behind the scenes. "Off the cuff" opinions are freely given in such a meeting, as friend meets friend and is not afraid of letting his hair down.

One man who attended the National Democratic convention in Chicago is very outspoken in his opposition to Governor Stevenson. If he is right, then the whole Democratic set-up is under the control of Harry S. Truman, who is working behind the scene.

According to this delegate at both the National and State Conventions, the Truman crowd pulled the fastest political coup that any group of men ever pulled. It was the opinion of many of the delegates that Stevenson, playing the "hard to get" role had been appraised all of the time that he was "Harry's man," and that the President not only endorsed his selection, but promised him all kinds of aid.

This is borne out by the declaration of Truman that he would make a whistle stop campaign for Stevenson following the selection of the Governor. In order to make the whole set-up look good to the voters, Stevenson first declared that he would run the campaign in his own way, without the aid of Truman, and that the whistle stop plan was out. It was not very long following the convention until Stevenson rushed to Washington, at government expense; conferred with Democratic heads of department, at government expense; and was closeted for several hours with Truman where he went over every detail of the campaign, so it is now charged.

The by-play of the "mess" in Washington made by Stevenson was for the purpose of beating Eisenhower to the punch. Truman and Stevenson knew that this was coming, so Stevenson made the declaration; with the denial by the President; as a smooth political move. If it works, well and good; if it fails, it will be too bad for the Democratic candidate.

We simply give you this as an index of the way delegates were feeling as they gathered in Amarillo last week and asked that Texas candidates take the stump for Eisenhower. Ike is a better Democrat than most Democrats.

What Will Texas Do in Nov., Follow Shivers or Vote for Steve

Will the people of Texas follow the footsteps of Governor Shivers and Senator-elect Price Daniel and repudiate the Democratic party in November?

Or will we hold to our prejudices and "fall dead" rather than vote for a Republican?

Since Texas once voted the Republican ticket, there are thousands of close political observers who think that the people will vote that way again.

The big newspapers of the East, and the picture magazines thought enough of the Texas situation to send their top political writers to cover the Democratic convention in Amarillo last week.

We talked with a number of these fellows at the Palo Duro Park before the convention opened. They were here checking up on the sentiment of the voters, and wondering just what was going to take place. These fellows are pretty close-mouthed. They are sent out to get the opinions of the voters, rather than express their own opinions.

However, we did learn that most of them were of the opinion that Governor Shivers was right in abandoning his first demand for two Democratic tickets. This was looked upon as pure folly by newsmen from other states, who had no compunctions against voting for the man rather than for the ticket.

Maybe the people of Texas will go to the polls in November and vote their honest opinions, rather than their prejudices against the Republican party.

What Is Unitarian? and What Do They Believe In? Is Asked

We have been asked by many persons about the religion of Governor Stevenson. He is so new on the political horizon that few persons really know who Stevenson is and what he stands for.

He is a member of the Unitarian Church.

Few persons know what that means. As a matter of fact we have never run across but one Unitarian Church. More than 40 years ago, long before churches in general adopted modern recreational programs, this one Unitarian Church was equipped with pool halls, a bowling alley, and dances were held on Sunday nights. This was before the days of the car, or the moving pictures, or a lot of other attractions for youth.

The Unitarian believes that God exists only in one person, denying the Trinity in which most Christians believe.

Stevenson's wife divorced him when he jumped into the Governor's race in Illinois as politics was so distasteful to her. She is said to have wired her congratulations upon his nomination, but assured him that she was voting for Ike.

While the religion of public men should not affect their official actions, it seems rather strange to us that Stevenson should go out for a church which is so little known in this nation, especially with the large number of recognized faiths which are in every town of the nation.

Sam Rayburn Is a Party Man Under Any and All Conditions

Speaker Sam Rayburn is campaigning for the election of a straight Democratic ticket. Naturally!

Sam is a party man. He would not last long in Washington, if required to stand upon his own merits. He must be a party man, or suffer the penalty of being outlawed.

The same is true of Senator Lyndon Johnson. Johnson has always been a regular, and in his case it has always paid off. He was elected upon the platform of regularity and so long as he stays in public office, he will be a party man.

It is being rumored that Governor Shivers will challenge Senator Johnson two years hence. If Texas should go for Eisenhower in the November election, Shivers would certainly be in the race. But if Texas goes for the Truman-Stevenson ticket, Shivers would have little chance against the Senator.

Your troubles do not interest other people.

No, Not All Texans Have Oil Wells, But Interested in Oil

Harry S. Truman thought he was getting pretty smart when he remarked that not all Texans are millionaires and not all Texans owned an oil well.

True enough. But let it be reminded that every Texan has an interest in the oil wells of the tidelands—regardless of what the little man from Missouri may think about it.

Sam Rayburn took up the battle cry and declared that the tidelands are not producing much oil. He deplores the idea that Texans should object to allowing the federal government to steal the oil lands.

That is just the reason why Texans object to this theft. The oil which may be taken from the tidelands may not amount to a great deal in the long run; the people of Texas may be over-enthusiastic over the prospect for oil; the value of the land may be greatly over-estimated; but let it be remembered that these lands belong to the people of Texas, and when the federal government steals these lands it is a steal, and nothing else but a steal.

Truman has become so hardened to theft among the federal employees and has protected them so long that he is convinced that his will to steal is perfectly okay with the people of the nation.

So far as we are concerned, theft on the part of the President, or the Supreme Court is just as great an offense as the theft on the part of the lowest citizen in the land.

Why arrest Negroes for shooting craps in the back alley while so-called respectable citizens are allowed to go free and steal from the federal government, or from each other.

There was a time when the people of the United States were very proud of their government. Under the administration of Harry S. Truman most of us have lost our pride for Washington. The loss of confidence will extend to the pal of Truman, the Governor of Illinois, who seeks to replace the man from Missouri in the White House.

Eisenhower Warms Up to the Campaign and Throws Punches

General Eisenhower is warming up in his campaign. While he has not been as aggressive as his friends had hoped that he would be, the General is learning the ways of the campaign well. He is throwing barbs at Governor Stevenson and hitting where it hurts.

The General has taken up the plea of Democrats, "Don't let them take it away." Just what is Eisenhower attempting to take away from Washington? Mink coats? 5 percenters? Deep freezers? Selling jobs? Stealing your tax money? Wasting billions of money? Attempting to regulate everything in America? Shifting foreign policies between suns? Denying that Korea is an essential territory; then sending troops to defend it; but refusing to allow these troops to win? Giving nearly all of the East to the Reds? Imposing Fair Practice upon the people?

Those who know anything about Washington know that there is a mess there. A change in administration—a complete change is the only answer; and the only way in which there can be a clean up is by the election of a completely new administration.

We have seen this coming on for a long while. We had hopes that Governor Stevenson had the same viewpoint, but we are losing faith in his motives and in his ability to clean up Washington.

McCarthy and Martin Dies Are Two of a Kind — Witch Chasers

We have never been strong for Senator McCarthy. To us he is a forefather of the first water. Yet we have always admitted that witch hunting is a popular game in government, and the fellow who wants to get into the limelight will do well politically by following this course.

All you have to do is look at the race of Martin Dies in Texas to see what manner of men are elected to public office when they go after the witches in government.

Dies in the House and McCarthy in the Senate are equals. Texans cannot throw dead cats at the voters of Wisconsin after the victory of Martin Dies in this state. They are two of a kind—useful as scavenger hunters.

Stevenson Miffed Because GOP Talks About National Corruption

He does not like the charge made by the Republicans of graft in the national administration. He would like to have General Eisenhower forget the issue of graft in government, and revert to the 20's when the depression hit under the Hoover administration. The fact that Hoover had nothing to do with the depression, but that Truman has everything to do with corruption in government have not soaked through the skull of the Illinois governor.

At any rate, just who was it who first called attention to the "mess" in Washington? We would bet a plugged nickel that Stevenson would like to eat those words now.

No Registration to Vote

We wish that the Chamber of Commerce, or whoever is responsible, would take down those posters urging the people to "register" and vote.

The Canyon News has had a number of phone calls asking about this registration business. There is no such thing in Texas. Under the poll tax law we are registered by the payment of this tax, or securing an exemption in counties with 10,000 population; or in smaller counties, like Randall, those over 60 years of age do not need a poll tax receipt, or an exemption.

Warren Praises City Lighting

The following editorial appeared in the Panhandle Herald, written by David M. Warren regarding the new lights along the highway in Canyon:

What a surprise it was to drive through Canyon the other night. That lighted highway street just west of West Texas State College is something. Every community should try to have better street lighting.

Unofficially, The Herald Editor has been told such street lights cost the city 87½ cents a month—$10.50 a year—and what lighting. Look over the lights at Canyon some night.

FADING AWAY

Five Star General Douglas MacArthur has accepted the chairmanship of the Remington-Rand Company, manufacturers of business machines and electronics equipment. While General MacArthur's salary was not made public, it reportedly will approximate $100,000 annually, if this constitutes "fading away," we hope somebody will fade us right quick.

Privacy was not one of the conveniences afforded by the rigors of early Texas society, but it must have been something of a shock to the fastidious Count de Saligny, French diplomatic minister to the Republic of Texas, to have his room at a wayside Texas inn invaded unceremoniously by an American and to be forced to share his bed with an utter stranger!

This anecdote is related by Mrs. M. C. Houstoun, an Englishwoman, who with her husband made a visit to Texas in 1843. Her account of the journey, "A Yacht Voyage to Texas," is one of the valuable items in early Texas literature.
"The traveler in Texas must set out prepared for every species of discomfort," Mrs. Houstoun wrote. "His bed, if he should happen to procure one, will be disputed, or, if he should happen to prefer a compromise, perhaps shared by some other traveler."
"The late envoy of his French Majesty chanced to be traveling up the country in this primitive republic. He was fresh from the luxuries of Paris life, not among the least of which may be reckoned the comfortable beds which are everywhere to be enjoyed.

"On arriving at one of the halting places at night, he retired to what he doubtless imagined would be a solitary couch; and though the winds of heaven were whistling through his log-built room and the bright stars peeping through the roof, the fatigue of the journey soon closed his eyes in slumber. He had not, however, slept many minutes when he was awakened by the entrance of a most formidable looking individual.
"It was a stout Kentuckian, duly armed with Bowie knife and pistols; and who, while in the act of disencumbering himself of his upper garments, said, in a coarse but not unfriendly voice: 'Well, stranger, I guess I'll take the inside of the bed, if it's the same to you.' I believe the Parisian preferred passing the night on the floor, to the misfortune of having the frontiersman as a bedfellow.
"No innkeeper in this country would ever dream of sending away a traveler on the plea of want of room, as long as one bed remained in his house unoccupied, except by two men."

A. B. Duncan has bought the interest of his brother, C. V. Duncan, and R. L. Lester in the Guaranty Abstract Co.

Miss Audrey Hanna and Dan F. Sanders were married at the home of the bride's parents in Nacogdoches.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Cleavinger will move here this week from Spring Lake, having bought the Mrs. F. P. Guenther property.

Natural gas will be turned into the mains in Canyon next Monday, states A. H. Bryant, local manager.

A Memorial Stone for the Baptist Church will be set in a special service next Sunday, according to Rev. Lyn Claybrook, the pastor. The names of all church officials and members of the building committee are chiseled on the stone. This memorial takes the place of the usual corner stone for the building.

CAMPAIGN EXPENSES

Come what may, one thing is certain about the national political races this year: The campaigns will be the costliest and best financed of any ever staged in this country. Total expenses are expected to run well into the millions of dollars because (1) the price of campaigning, like everything else, has soared, and (2) the campaigns themselves will be more elaborate. Technically, Federal laws fix a limit of $3,000,000 on the spending of a major political party but these laws—like most others—are full of loopholes.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS SOCIAL BECOMES A HOUSEWARMING

When the monthly birthday social was held in the home of Mrs. Frank Begert Thursday evening, September 11, she was surprised with a housewarming gift from members of the class who made this social such an occasion.

Hostesses were Mesdames Herschel Thurston, H. E. Campfield, Levi Cole, Fred Scott, Milton Morris, L. M. Cousins, R. D. Lowry, Charles Donnell, S. L. Robinson, Rhone Mobley, and Misses Bessie Young and Irene Hicks.

The program consisted of a reading by Mrs. R. D. Lowry; singing by quartets and trios, and dramatization of nursery rhymes.

An unusual centerpiece of a watermelon basket filled with frozen watermelon and mush melon balls, and lime sherbet balls arranged on clusters of small tomatoes and green pepper on their foliage stems graced the attractive table from which sandwiches, pickles, potato chips, olives, cookies, hot chocolate and coffee were served.

Those present were Mesdames Eva Anthony, Delbert Lowes, Flossie Johnston, Lorraine Roberts, Mabel Taylor, James Scott, Minnie Grabbie, Marshall Rockwell, Tommie Pierce, Viola Gum, T. W. Collins, Delpha Downing Ada Busted, Ada Wood, Judy Gidden, Evelyn Frieze, T. V. Crouse, Gladys Samples, Misses Elizabeth Cox, and Ruby Zachry, the hostesses, the house hostess, and her daughter, Hila.

INTERVIEW H. D. CLUB GETS FIRST DRESSMAKING LESSON

The Centerville Home Demonstration Club women had their first lesson in tailored dressmaking on Friday, September 12, at 2:30 p. m. at the Fairview school house.

Theo Wise, the leader, brought out many points on styles, materials and suiting individual figures with material and pattern.

Present were Mesdames Wise, Annie Wesley, Annie Read, Lizzie Wesley, Madge Sutton, Ora Evans, Evelyn Shipman with Janice and Emil Ross, Inez Shipman and Miss La Vena and Miss Vesta Amerson. The next meeting will be an all day meeting on Friday, September 19, beginning at 9:30 with Evelyn Shipman. This meeting will cover the dressmaking course taught by Mrs. Wise and the raised doughnuts demonstration by Mrs. Evelyn Shipman.

Bring a covered dish for lunch and enjoy the day with the club.

House guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Russell were Mr. and Mrs. T. B. McCandless and Butch of Amarillo, and Mr. McCandless's brother, Jack McCandless, from Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Prichard are at home from California where she has been for a check up.

MANY COURTESIES EXTENDED R. E. HARTERS DURING VISIT

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Harter, who have returned to their home in Lafayette, Calif., after a 10 day visit with friends and relatives, were extended many courtesies while here.

To give them an opportunity of seeing a large group of friends the first courtesy was an open house in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miller. Sharing honors with the Millers as host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Moore, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harter.

Approximately 60 guests were served punch and cookies from an attractive table centered with dark red dahlias flanked by yellow tapers.

Included among the many other courtesies was a dessert party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Jones; a patio dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Walsh; and a dessert party at the Charles Harter home.

For many years Mr. Harter was associated with the post office in Canyon and Mrs. Harter taught in the public schools. Since moving to California in 1943 they have both been connected with post office work and Mrs. Harter has also taught some.

John James Harter, their son, joined his parents here to return home with them. He had been to Washington, D. C., for a personal interview in regards to his application for diplomatic or foreign service for the government. He has his master's degree from the University of Southern California and lacks only his dissertation on his doctorate. Following his interview in Washington he returned to U. S. C. for some specialized training for a year then will return to Washington for further interviews.

MUSIC ARTS CLUB OPENS YEAR WITH SUPPER MEETING

The Music Arts Club began its year's program with a supper meeting in the home of Mrs. Joseph Findley Monday, September 15, at 7 o'clock. Activities of the year were discussed during the business meeting following, at which Miss Matilda Gaume presided.

Present were Mesdames Houston Bright, H. A. Brown, Glenn Dowlen, Herman Demus, Ples Harper, Newton Harrell, T. E. Knighton, T. H. Knighton, Bryan McDonald, Dan Sanders, W. R. Wilson, T. Winston Wilbanks, W. T. Green, a guest, and Misses Pauline Brigham, Ada V. Clark, Gaume, and the hostess.

Record Played at Rotary Club on Hydrogen Bomb

H. R. Fulton, Jr., was in charge of the Rotary Club program Tuesday. He played one-half of a record which has recently been produced on the hydrogen bomb.

The record was produced in a simplified manner in order to bring information to the layman regarding the great expense in connection with the manufacture of the bomb.

Visitors were Dave Haley of Lubbock; Bob Lindsey of Borger; Royce Saden of Itaska; Dr. J. M. Kidd and Dr. Roy Benedict of Austin; Col. Carl Anderson, Major J. C. Quillin, J. J. Sanders, Vern Gensemer, R. T. Alexander, A. L. Overton, Earl O'Keefe, Ed Shaw, Swede Tolzein, Dr. A. M. Meyer, Rob Rogers, all of Amarillo.

Dr. Dudley Moore put on a quiz contest based upon the life of Bud Parker. J. D. Parker was the first member to guess the identity of the victim.

Generalissimo Franco has just reduced the retirement age for Spain's Army officers from 65 to 60, in order to get rid of some generals he considers unfriendly. Military conspiracies within the Army are worrying Franco, who depends upon the Army to keep him in his job. Spanish businessmen, in some instances, are back of anti-Franco maneuvering.

Military attaches of European countries who see quite a lot of Russian military attaches report that the Russians are complaining that Joseph Stalin considers himself a real generalissimo, kicking out high commanders who do not agree with his ideas about the next war, elevating those who agree with him.

Dean Acheson, Secretary of State, now thinks that a mistake was made in associating this country publicly with Britain's last offer for a settlement with Iran on oil. Iran's Mossadegh immediately rejected the offer, leaving Mr. Acheson with little leeway to bargain.

Britain's big head start in building of jet aircraft for commercial use is resulting in pressure on U. S. military forces to permit the aircraft industry in this country to shift some attention to commercial jets.

Fast Driving Matter Of Life and Death On Texas Highways

How much clear vision should you have to pass another automobile when it is going 50 miles an hour and you are going 60?

This is one of the problems facing Texas highway planners in their efforts to modernize Texas highways and make them safer. They must make it possible for you to see a half-mile ahead, or you are taking a chance at passing another vehicle traveling at a mile a minute.

With highways built for only two-lane or three-lane traffic, the Highway Department has to depend upon yellow paint to furnish the safety factor. Every year thousands of dollars are spent painting the center stripe and warning lines down the highways.

"We are all too prone to ignore these warning stripes when we think we have even a half-chance," says Jack Kultgen, president of the Texas Good Roads Association.

"Sometimes when you are driving along at 60 miles an hour, have your companion clock you. You'll be surprised at how many times you are facing death in the matter of just a few seconds," he said.

Such carelessness last year caused a big percentage of the 206,000 motor vehicle accidents that killed 2,546 persons in Texas.

CHS To Observe Citizenship Day, Tri-State Fair

Joe Gibson, superintendent of Canyon Public Schools, said Monday that the school would observe Citizenship Day on Wednesday, September 17. This day is in commemoration of the signing of the Constitution of the United States on September 17, 1787.

It is something of a special day in which all Americans rededicate and assert their faith in the principles of the ideals set forth in the Constitution. A proclamation was recently signed by President Truman which encouraged citizens throughout the country to observe Citizenship Day.

The school will observe the day with a number of speeches which will be delivered by students. Citizenship training has recently taken on a more important atmosphere in connection with school work. This probably resulted from the Citizens Advisory Conference on Education held in Austin last spring which strongly encouraged the teaching of American History and Government.

Supt. Gibson also announced that next Monday will be a holiday from noon for the remainder of the day to give the students an opportunity to visit the Tri-State Fair. He said the buses would run at the regular time of the morning. They will make the return trip about noon so students who live in the country can get home and attend the fair with their families.

ROTC Program at WTSC Explained To Lions Club

Colonel Lumry, commander of the ROTC unit at West Texas State College, explained the program to the Lions Club at luncheon Wednesday. In addition to Colonel Lumry, the unit's present staff comprises Major Allen, Captain Rehn, and three non-commissioned officers. Later there are to be two more non-commissioned officers added to the staff.

The purpose of the program is to train men who may see action in the event of war. Authorities have worked out this plan because of the great cost we have paid in unpreparedness during the last two wars.

This program will help the army get trained leaders because those who receive the training will be in line for a commission. The program is a definite advantage to the school because it allows students to complete basic while attending college. It helps the student himself because it teaches him to accept responsibility and leadership. There is also a career opportunity for the student.

Freshmen and sophomores are required to take this military science. It is optional with juniors and seniors. Sophomores this year will pack four years of military science into their next three years of college.

One of the requests that the commander asked was that the people of Canyon support the unit. From time to time they may be asked to help out in various ways, he explained.

The Lions also entertained two visitors. They were Joe Findley of Canyon and Lion Zone Chairman Bill Ford of Hays.

Milton Eisenhower, brother of the General, college president and former official in the Roosevelt Administration, is starting to take more of an active part in the Eisenhower campaign.

Ted Lowe's Gilt Wins Fall 4-H Club Hog Show

The annual fall 4-H Club swine show of registered Spotted Poland gilts was judged Saturday morning. A. L. Crossland of the Agriculture department of West Texas State College highly complimented the boys on their good work as he picked a gilt shown by Ted Lowe as the show winner.

Jerry Roberts and Charles Conatser pushed Lowe all the way as their gilts were placed second and third. Gilts belonging to Curtiss Stroup and Melvin Tucek were next. Other gilts belonging to Rhett Plank, Jack Metcalf, and George Kuehler were also shown.

The five top boys will split $30 in prize money awarded by Sears Roebuck, sponsors of the swine program. Lowe will enter his gilt in the area show at Amarillo on Sept. 22. When these boys raise a litter of pigs next year they will return a sow pig for redistribution to another Randall County 4-H club boy. Many of the swine in this county can be traced back to the purebred gilts in this program.

Bufs Play at Lubbock in the Season Opener

The Buffalo football team will meet the Red Raiders of Texas Tech at Lubbock Saturday night. This will be the opening game for each team in spite of the fact that this is a Border Conference game.

Coach Frank Kimbrough will have a number of combinations to throw at the Raiders in the season's opening.

On the whole the team looks much stronger than the one of last year. Several lettermen who made the team last year are on the sidelines in favor of the younger men who have come to W. T. and joined the Buffalo squad.

A number of local followers of the Bufs will be in the stands Saturday night at Lubbock when the kick-off comes at 8 o'clock.

Fairview Breezes

We didn't get but .20 of moisture the past week which didn't help much.

Arlen Wesley, who is attending Texas Tech, had a hip badly bruised the first of September and was not able to be in football practice for two weeks. However, he has been on the field the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Whitson and children, Darla and Donny, of Littlefield visited Saturday night and Sunday in the parental J. W. Wesley home.

Troy Wayne Sharpes of Hamilton visited in this community over the week end. He was seeing his draft board and is scheduled for induction October 26.

E. H. Wilson is not very well at this writing.

E. M. Wilson has not fully recovered from an electric shock suffered some two weeks ago.

The party in the F. M. Brazil home Friday evening honoring their son, Douglas, and wife was well attended. Sandwiches, cookies, Cokes and coffee were served to approximately 50 guests.

Mrs. Serena Bryan was taken to Neblett Hospital Monday evening of last week suffering with a pain in her side. She was slightly improved Saturday evening.

Mrs. Harney Rogers is caring for Mrs. Haley Hodges who fell some time back hurting her hip.

Brother and Mrs. Lantrop visited Mrs. Bryan in Neblett Hospital Sunday afternoon.

Troy Sharpes visited in the E. M. Wilson home Sunday.

Those visiting Mrs. Bryan Saturday were Miss Vesta Amerson, Mrs. J. W. Wesley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walters, and Mrs. Harney Rogers.

The Fellowship party at the school house Saturday was arranged by Georgia Rogers, Ora Evans and Lavena Amerson. Refreshments of weinies, with all the trimmings, were served to a good size crowd.

Those visiting in the J. W. Wesley home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith and sons, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wesley and Lavena Amersons, the Whitsons, Mr. and Mrs. Lantrop and Troy Sharpes.

The Bill Smith family shopped in Amarillo Saturday.

Troy Sharpes spent Friday night in Amarillo with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson.

Marvin Brazil of Midland visited his parents, the F. M. Brazils, Thursday and Friday. The Brazils went with him to Midland on Saturday and visited there and in Odessa with their daughters, Nora and Laura, and their families.

Uel Wise moved to Canyon to re-enter West Texas State.

Mr. and Mrs. Curley Myers attended the dog show in Amarillo Friday and Saturday. One of their puppies won a third place ribbon.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wilson and grandson, Glen Thompson, visited in the J. W. Wesley home Wednesday evening.

C. R. Wesley visited with Gene Shipman Sunday.

We are glad to report that Richard Evans and Mrs. O. J. Read are much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Evans spent Thursday night at their farm near Vega.

DEN 4 STUDIES POSTAL WORK

Mrs. E. W. Pettitt read the story of the postal pooch to the cub scouts of den four at their regular meeting Monday. The story was from Boy's Life Magazine. Other scout activities included writing letters in invisible ink and playing bean bag baseball.

The meeting was held in Mrs. Pettitt's home and Mrs. Ray E. Clay furnished refreshments. Cubs enjoying refreshments were Eddie Pettitt, Dewayne Clay, Jimmy Fulcher, David Cole, James Boyd, Eugene Blasdel, Dewight McGehee, Jess Sheets, Phil Pennington, Jimmy Killingsworth, Mike McAtee, and Freddie McCormack.

In addition to their other activities the cub scouts planned a Wednesday afternoon trip through the post office.

Eagles Journey To Kress for Friday's Game

Coach Murry and his Canyon High School Eagles kicked off the football season in Buffalo Stadium last Friday night with the Happy Cowboys. That was an excellent game for an opener and many expect Friday night's tilt at Kress to be just as good.

Although the Canyon Eagles and the Kress team are in different classes, the game promises to be a thriller. Classes really do not count much during the first few games because the teams are just beginning to work as a group and getting into shape.

After playing Kress the Eagles will have one week to work out before meeting one of the toughest opponents of the season, Dalhart, there on September 26.

China, Japan, Honolulu---and Then Home for the Newton Harrell Family

(By Mrs. Newton Harrell)

HONG KONG: After we landed the British hostess on our BOAC plane from Singapore to Hong Kong said the landing field in Hong Kong was the most difficult in the world. I can well believe that because we came in over a group of mountains that looked like ant hills and flew high enough to safely clear them, curving in and down so close that we could almost reach out on the right and touch these mountains as we zoomed down to hit the short runway with a bounce and reverse the motors to stop the plane before it ran into Victoria Bay. Everyone heaved a sigh of relief as we were safely on land again.

Hong Kong looks very much like Rio de Janeiro, which is considered to be one of the most beautiful harbors in the world. It is a very beautiful view to see the green cone mountains dotted with stately white mansions of diplomats, who seldom live there. The city nestles along the shore in the curves of the bay and extends part way up the mountains.

View of Hong Kong

We land on the peninsula of Kowloon and ferry across Victoria Bay to Hong Kong proper, which is on island 24 miles across. Every five minutes the ferry made the crossing, with 400 or 500 people aboard the time we crossed. When we reached the other side we climbed into tiny foreign made cars and three coolies carried our baggage in a rickshaw to our hotel. We went up the elevator to the eighth floor to register and down one flight of steps to our rooms where a boy in a little booth kept our key when we were out of our rooms.

It was about 5 o'clock when we arrived and everyone was having tea or cocktails in the lounge. I met an American girl, whose husband is an exporter for an American firm on Okinawa and they are moving to Hong Kong. They are having trouble getting living quarters and will probably stay on in the hotel, which is expensive, but no more so than housing. People who own apartments get "key money" for apartments or a house to rent. (This is the result of ceilings on rent). You pay the owner $5,000 or more for the privilege of renting and also pay the rent. You don't get the $5,000 back. The same condition existed in Singapore. You put a ceiling on anything and it becomes scarce immediately and often disappears or may appear in a new form without controls.

Prices Are High

The girl invited us to the American Club, a block down from the hotel and ordered a malted milk for Ed and me. That malt was the best I ever drank. Of course we were hungry for a good old American malted, but that one was really good. It's nice that everywhere of any size there are these clubs for Americans away from home to get together. Our newly met friend was glad to be in Hong Kong and away from Okinawa.

We walked around that night to see some of the sights of Hong Kong. In these hot countries the people come out at night to shop and visit.

The better shops are along the main streets. The narrow alleys were filled with temporary displays of everything cheap you can imagine made in America. The Chinese buy American goods and we buy Chinese, but they still eat their own food in their own peculiar way.

Live on Rice and Fish

There are three and a half million people in Hong Kong and they still like to eat mostly rice and fish, so much that they smell of spoiled fish. Nearly all the women wear the slim, high necked, princess styled dress with skirt slit to the knees on both sides. They have such slender figures, the dresses are very becoming. The men and women among the poorer classes wear the black pajamas. Many men, who can afford it, wear American clothes, white shirts and dark or white trousers.

The rickshaws here are pulled by coolies. The double-decked black street cars were odd looking. We had a Chinese meal on a floating restaurant out from Aberdeen, just offshore about 40 or 50 yards. The American Express guide went with us to keep the Chinese from taking us in as we try to get out to the restaurant and back.

Tips For All

As we slowed down to stop, ten little girls hung onto the side of the car and yelled as loud as they could in Chinese, but the guide chose one immediately and the little girl laughed because she had won out and got to take us out in her Sampan. Her mother, barefoot and clad in black pajamas, twisted and swayed a long pole, which made a sort of fin propeller at the back of the little boat, while the girl (about 10 years old) rowed and steered with an oar from the front of the boat. The baby played with some cards on the floor, paying no attention to us until we rose to leave the boat, then he stretched out his little hand for a coin, the mother joining the chorus, "Something for the baby!"

The floating restaurant was a double-decked barge and along side was attached a half submerged wicker box with compartments of various kinds of live fish which a boy dipped up in nets for us to choose from for our meal. In another large round basket were enormous sea lobsters and in yet another long, slim, shrimp. The guide chose a fish popular with Chinese and we asked for shrimp.

The waiter brought us a small wet towel, a small plate, chop sticks and a glass of hot tea without sugar or cream.

Eggs With A Smell

A small dish of dried fish and a bowl of 100 year old preserved eggs that were so black they were transparent were served. I did not intend trying either but Newton tasted them and insisted that I try them. They did taste like eggs but smelled like Chinese although the guide insisted that they had no odor. Mustard, ginger and soy bean sauce were served with the plate of fried shrimp and fish. Then came a small bowl of rice and shrimp and last a plate of oranges cut into sections to be peeled back from each end and eaten from the skins.

I'm sure we did not seem very appreciative because the guide said that we must talk loud, stretch or reach across the table for food, turn over the tea or something and belch loudly, otherwise they would think we didn't enjoy our meal.

While we were eating, the wind had become strong and the little girl on the sampan was replaced by another woman with a baby strapped to her back. The current was strong and the woman had a little trouble rowing back to shore.

Three U. S. States

Our guide said Chinese people think there are only three states in the United States: California, New York and Texas, all inhabited by cowboys, Indians and movie stars, and that all we do is chew chewing gum and read funny books.

He says the Chinese are trustworthy but not honest. If they give their word they will keep it. They don't help each other. If they saw a pickpocket take something from a person, they would think that didn't affect them so they would say nothing and make no attempt to catch the thief. If you had a flat they wouldn't stop to help. They don't want to be indebted to you so they go their way.

As an example of how the Chinese react—we were supposed to take the tram up the mountain, but they were testing the brakes which they do periodically. As we walked up to get tickets there was a sign in English saying that the tram would not run. There was a group of Chinese standing there waiting and we asked why. The guide said that unfortunately they couldn't read English—but he didn't bother to tell them what the sign said.

Chinese Signs Attractive

We rode the tram or cog train down from a 1500 foot peak after a lovely ride around and up the mountain.

Hong Kong is very proud of its neon signs that light up the two main streets. The Chinese writing looks very attractive in red, gold and blues up and down the heavy pillars which support each shop and store along the street. Most of our towns build their buildings with an awning over the sidewalks. In Hong Kong the six to twelve story office buildings, banks, hotels and exchange buildings, etc., which line the streets on both sides, build over the sidewalks.

leaving the lower floor open the width of the sidewalks.

In the poorer part of town the people live over their shops. The buildings are open across the front with nothing but iron bars or railings to keep the children from falling out. You see clothes hanging out all across like they were celebrating. The Chinese are very neat and clean as a rule. The young women are very well groomed and look like models.

Beautiful Drive

With such steep mountains and such a small landing strip I thought it would be frightening to drive around, but the road winds around the island and when we went to the top of the peak the driver was careful. They are not allowed to drive over 25 miles an hour. The roads all have rock barriers or small trees along the edge so that one doesn't feel he is on the edge of a mountain at all. The mountains are of solid stone, so it is no trouble to find building stone. The trouble is in finding a level place on which to build a house.

Trees are small and scarce. There is a law protecting the trees, but it is not enforced.

Some of the cross streets running back up the hills are just steps up a narrow alley as far as you can see—too steep for a road.

Hong Kong is a free port and you can get anything. You can exchange any kind of money and the money changers have quaint little adding machines called soroban; even the stores and post office use them. They are a little square frame with spools or beads that they run up and down on little sticks. They can do any kind of math problem on these queer boxes. Calculations are made as rapidly as our own adding machines.

Poor Law Enforcement

It is said that you can get by with murder or anything if you have enough money. The laws are not very well enforced.

The harbor is as well protected as the one at Singapore; therefore, they do big business in imports and exports.

It is only 22 miles back into Communist territory. There is a large Communist bank in Hong Kong.

TOKYO

Tokyo, Japan: We were ten hours flying from Hong Kong to Tokyo with an hour for refueling and sandwiches on Okinawa, where we saw some bored looking soldiers having coffee and pie. From the plane we could see the light of another fair sized town on the island.

Soon after daybreak I could begin to see some dark ridges of land through the clouds. Yokohama continues right on into Tokyo. We flew over the city for quite a long way before settling down at Haneda Airport. There clouds formed almost a solid blanket over the earth and I wondered how we would land, but the clouds seemed to open up just at the right moment.

The customs officials looked through everything, even unrolling some of our tape recordings. I don't know what they thought they could see.

Unfriendly At First

The taxi driver didn't look too friendly and the long drive to "Hotel Tokyo" bordered by many shacks and unpainted shops gave us an unfriendly picture of Japan. The hotel staff even seemed stiff and polite but not genuine.

The longer we stayed though the more welcome we felt and I really believe we made some friends.

The seven story hotel was quite modern and comfortable, with a fan and high ceiling in a large room. We had fresh flowers in the room each day. Our covers were laid back on our beds each night and ice water left in a silver thermos bottle. The dining room was air conditioned. The desk and flower shop were on the first floor. The lobby and large lounge was on the seventh floor—same floor as the dining room which was very similar to the arrangement in Hong Kong.

Fine Hotel Service

We had lovely chamber music by Japanese musicians (violins, cello and piano) with our evening meals and the radio with other meals. Pretty little Japanese girls smilingly waited tables. It was no trouble for them to spread the napkin on your lap and clear the tables or serve you because they weren't much taller standing than we were sitting. The food was wonderful and service better. We only had to think of something and they seemed to read our minds. This was the first place we had been served by girls and we liked it.

Tokyo is a modern city of seven million people, a beehive of activity. There are 800 square miles in the city. There are many huge eight or ten story buildings that cover a whole block. Several large new office buildings are under construction. Most of the business is in small shops where the family lives in the back of the store. I believe four-fifths of the people have a shop in their home. Down any alley or side street and along the main streets, every space is taken up with shops displaying anything and everything. It's hard to find anything Japanese to buy. Everything looks like cheap American goods. In nearly every shop hang Japanese lanterns and paper flowers for decorations.

The quaint Japanese writing or characters on their large signs over the shops sliding doors or over the bamboo awnings is very artistic and decorative. There are native markets everywhere but near the movie sector is a section covered over with bamboo where the shops are especially thick and are set up outside, along each side of the street. People mill around as if it were a carnival. We found some Japanese fans, umbrellas and souvenirs then walked on a block to the movie section.

Japanese Movies

There were about six movie houses on each side of the street covered with giant sign boards and picture attractions and a bell ringing in front of a theatre to change between pictures. Crowds were milling in the streets while the barkers advertised the shows.

We saw a Japanese movie, which we enjoyed even though we could not get a seat or understand a word. People sat on papers on the steps, in the aisles, in the balcony, and slipped into seats as someone moved out. The photography was good, acting good and music good.

We were in Tokyo an extra day while motors were changed on our Clipper so we saw another movie. This one was an English picture, "Where No Vultures Fly," made in Kenya, East Africa, showing how the National Game Preserve was started. Of course it made us long to go back to the great open country we had so recently visited.

Department Store

The MitsuKoshi Department Store is as up-to-date as our department stores at home. The only difference is the smell. The main diet is fish and rice and so much dried fish is in every store, shop and household that the odor is everywhere.

When a girl is married her friends bring gifts of dried fish or something that looks like a small octopus wrapped in brightly colored paper, but with its many tendrils dangling. This supposedly brings good luck. It's the same smell of dead fish that everybody, every shop, even the beds, have.

The people and shops look clean.

We had a splendid meal in a first class native restaurant. The water was purified and we had delicious steak and vegetables.

People look at us as if they had never seen Americans before.

Adopt American Dress

Nearly all the Japanese people dress like Americans. A Japanese woman on the plane told me that only wealthy Japanese could afford to dress in Japanese clothes.

We were surprised not to see more American soldiers. The military forces have moved out of the city and the only police you see are Japanese. I only saw five or six American soldiers on the street and one or two others who could have been American visitors.

I am always curious to know about the people who eat in the dining rooms of the hotels in the various places. They come from the four corners of the earth I imagine and are engaged in every kind of legal and illegal trade. We have met many in the diplomatic service. The Japanese Minister of Finance was on our plane enroute to Mexico for a conference.

Woman An American

The little Japanese lady across the aisle was living in Los Angeles during the war and was moved back inland with the other Japanese. She is now a citizen of the United States from New York and has been in Tokyo four months visiting one married son and sending another to Pusan, Korea, in the United States Army. She is a good loyal American and a loving mother, grieving for her son. Her name is Martha Yomazaki and she is a remarkable woman. At 52 her hair is black, her complexion clear and skin free of wrinkles. She is interested in many things. She studied flower arrangement.

There was a time when people bought insurance policies. No more. The modern way is to plan an insurance protection program. That means real financial protection.

music, and the cooking of native foods while she was in Japan. She says that learning flower arrangements is like learning music. You can study for years and still there is more to learn. For instance, flowers represent a mood, certain ones and a certain arrangement is used for different occasions. They have few ornaments, no furniture in their houses, but they (the Japanese) must have flowers and much thought and care goes into each arrangement.

Arrangement of Flowers

Mrs. Ridgway studied flower arranging for about a year and secured a diploma from her teacher, but Mrs. Yamazaki explained that they gave a short course or short cut to Americans, knowing they could only be in Japan for a short time.

If you stay at a Japanese hotel, native, they furnish a pretty starched kimono, or night gown. You don't need to take anything along. I guess you sleep on the floor mat on the floor.

Mrs. Yamazaki said that her daughter-in-law lived in a sweet little Japanese home with rice paper sliding partitions. The front wall of the house is small glass paneled sliding doors. Even closets have sliding doors. They sleep on a padded quilt and sit on the floor. Shoes are left at the door and bedding put outside in the daytime. The floors shine and there is only a very low table for tea, which is served in lovely little cups all day long. They buy flowers about three times a week.

Tokyo Is Scenic

There are many bicycles in Tokyo, a good many cars, small taxis and three wheeled pick-up trucks. There are subways, elevated trains and wonderful train service. They say the trains are clean, up-to-date and always on time, which is quite different from China. One fellow told us that it took him all day to go 30 miles by train in China. They were hours late getting started and stopped along the way with all the crew getting off to have lunch. I think they even went fishing. Anyway, the trip took all day.

Mrs. Luke Bagwell's daughter of Claude and her husband, Major and Mrs. Howard Berg, who are now living just outside of Tokyo in the Army compound, left a message at the hotel for us. They drove us in their car through the country where rice and many vegetables were being grown. There was very little land level enough to cultivate. We had lunch at a mountain top hotel run by army personnel; visited a Buddhist shrine at Kama Kura; had dinner that night at the University Club, officer's club. It was certainly a lucky day and a treat for us to see the country in such a way.

We left Haneda Airport, Tokyo, about 6 p. m. a day late after the new motor had been installed. There were many Japanese on board and I thought we were going to be left behind. We couldn't get through the tightly packed crowd to the plane. I really was a little bit worried. This was the only time we had needed our raincoats. It was pouring rain. I had packed the coats in the suitcase. Since it was warm, the rain only served to keep us cool while the plane was being warmed.

Had Motor Trouble

One hour out of Tokyo we heard the steward over the loud speaker say we were having trouble with one motor, that they had feathered it and we were going back to have it looked over. Thirty minutes later they announced that they were dumping some of our load of gasoline for safety and no smoking, please. Of course, we felt fine! It might still be raining back in Tokyo and be too cloudy for us to land. We recalled that before we left the Flying Tiger and crew had a motor out and were off course; a commercial plane had been circling for two hours but couldn't land for fear of collision with the Tiger in the heavy fog. However, both had come in just before we took off. When we arrived the rain had cleared away and we made a perfect landing with seven red fire trucks standing by.

After the mechanics looked at the motor they announced that they would have another plane ready in two hours to take us to Honolulu.

This makes my fourth time to come in with a motor out, but it is not a common occurrence. The steward has flown seventeen 14,000 hour missions in the Tokyo airlift without a mishap. One of our hostesses has flown five years in the Orient with Pan American. She says it is very rare for them to have trouble. The air lines are very cautious, service their planes regularly and carefully, changing motors at regular intervals. They have a wonderful record. I don't think Pan American has had any accidents with commercial planes out of Tokyo.

Honolulu and the Royal Hawaiian We were about 20 hours in the air from Tokyo to Honolulu with an hour stopover to refuel on Wake Island. P. A. A. served us a delicious breakfast while the plane was being refueled on this tiny, strategic island. It's really a group of three islands around a lagoon with the airstrip on the largest one which is only two miles long and hardly one-half mile wide at the widest point.

It was 6 p. m. when we reached Honolulu and 8 o'clock before we were through customs and settled at our hotel. Customs were very nice to us and only checked our list of curios on paper without looking through our bags. I guess they could tell we weren't smugglers.

The Royal Hawaiian is the last word in elegant hotels anywhere. Just to be able to walk barefoot on the floor and wash our teeth under a faucet were real pleasures. But when they brought in a whole pineapple all sliced for us in the pineapple shell, top and all, we knew we had arrived in Hawaii!

Beautiful Hotel

The rambling four story pink structures is set back among Royal palms and huge acacia trees with its back or front overlooking Waikiki beach. We danced on the terrace where they move the orchestra's grass hut along the beach a few yards from one dining room to the other for dinner and later dancing. People are very gay and romantic under the spell of this silver Hawaiian moon which rides through fleecy white clouds over the Royal palms and casts a shimmering glow on the blue Pacific while we dance to Hawaiian music.

We were surprised to see Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sanders of Amarillo who were vacationing in Honolulu at the Royal Hawaiian.

For breakfast we had fresh pineapple or papaya, but first they brought a demitasse of coffee and donuts (just extras) and I thought that was plenty of breakfast for me without the order of bacon and eggs I had already given.

Style Show Held

At luncheon there was a style show showing the latest in island fashions which are summer fashions all year round.

Some of their unusual desserts are "snowballs" which is an ice cream ball rolled in fresh coconut and surrounded by crushed pineapple; then there is fresh coconut ice cream. By all means though, remind me to have Charlotte put a slice of lemon in my finger bowl; it's so soothing to my finger tips.

All the men but Newton wear gay colored shirts, not tucked in their pants and the women are dressed in bare-backed sport sun dresses. For evening they dress in long dresses or short ones, but they are rather dressy here at night. Over at the Moana more people are just passing through and you see anything and everything being worn as you dance under the Banyan tree.

We dressed in bathing suits in our rooms, caught the elevator outside our door and were down the back entrance to the beach where we swam, sun bathed and rented a surf board. We hadn't learned to ride the surf board standing up but did get a nice red tan from lying on it.

Waikiki Beach is always the same. The water is always just the right temperature and it is shallow out such a long way.

Drive Through Country

We visited the Dole pineapple cannery and the sugar mill; afterwards driving out into the country to leave Ed to see sugar cane and pineapple growing.

The pineapple cannery with all its modern machinery and enormous output is a fine example of American skill and capacity to do things compared with hand labor and individual output in so many countries.

Leaving Honolulu

The airport was crowded with people gayly bedecked in flower leis, palm hats and Hawaiian mother Hubbard dresses. The hostesses on the P. A. A. "Trade Winds" leaving Honolulu at 6 p. m. gave us plastic bags for our leis and after a luscious meal of roast lamb, potatoes, salad, chocolate cake, cream, coffee and champagne we settled down for the night. Many people were sleeping in upper berths. One little girl, about 15, above Ed's seat, keeps poking her head out and chatting with us. The hostess gave her a drink and she finally went to sleep.

We should reach Los Angeles at 6:40 a. m. and hope, to catch our plane for Amarillo at 8 a. m.

It will be wonderful to be back home again, safe and sound, with our family and friends in good old America. I don't even think I'll mind going to work although I've been waited upon for two months. People who live abroad for some time where help is plentiful, cheap and good, don't like to come back to doing their own work.

If it's as dry at home as the papers say we'll be out trying to find some feed for our poor old cows.

Back to Honolulu

10:30 p. m. Nearly everyone else is asleep and the pilot comes along and asks how I am and I ask how things are going. He says, "Do you know where we are going?" I said "Los Angeles." He said, "No, we are going back to Honolulu. One engine is using more oil than it should so to be safe we are going back. We are nearly three hours out."

We did the same thing when we came back from Australia last year. I don't like these planes with these fancy names "Rainbow," "Trade Winds," "The Golden Pheasant," etc. I believe they have a jinx on me. This makes three times on this trip that we have come in on three motors. We made it in fine shape and two hours another plane and crew were ready for us to take off again. We had coffee and pineapple juice in P. A. A.'s private waiting room, same place, same time we waited last year.

This clipper, "America," sounds better and we have the same crew who brought us in from Tokyo on the "Eclipse"; so we feel we are in luck. We settled down for a little nap at 2 in the morning and two hours after we are out I ask a girl in front of me how things are going and she said that in 15 minutes we would land in Honolulu! I couldn't believe it. But I was glad I didn't know it any sooner. One engine was using too much oil, but they didn't feather it. We landed on all four motors.

Second Time Back

At 6 o'clock we went to a hotel (still in Honolulu), had breakfast and slept until 12 noon, all at P. A. A. expense. They didn't make anything on this trip. Our pilot says they are installing better and tougher motors in these planes soon. They haven't had any accidents yet (x-fingers crossed).

We are only 45 minutes out of Los Angeles now and everything is running smoothly. We should be there at 1 a. m. We will probably leave Los Angeles at 8 a. m., arriving in Amarillo in about seven hours.

Believe me, the good old Panhandle where I can let my flaps down without touching water!

It has been an exciting and intensely interesting trip, meeting and talking with people all around the world. Seeing people in their environment, sensing the reason for their thinking and behavior in over-crowded conditions, observing different religious beliefs, and seeing the constant struggles of every race for more power and influence; we are firmly convinced that, regardless of race, creed or color, with kindness and consideration, we are all friends striving for the same goal.

I got Conoco's NEW 1-2-3 "50,000 Miles No Wear" Service!

Here is a proven, tested way to help your engine perform better, last longer, use less gasoline and oil! Simply give it Conoco's great new "50,000 Miles—No Wear" Service!

This is exactly the same service that kept test cars new in Conoco's spectacular "50,000 Miles—No Wear" road test!

In that famous 50,000-mile test, with 1,000-mile drains and proper filter service, test car engines showed no wear of any consequence; in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. Gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000.

Now you can get this same 1-2-3 "50,000 Miles—No Wear" Service, at your Conoco Mileage Merchant's, today!

1 Your Conoco Mileage Merchant Will Drain Out Grit and Sludge, preferably while engine is hot! "Hot-oil" drains every 1,000 miles flush out grit, dirt, acid and contamination—leave your engine sparkling clean!

2 He'll Recondition Air and Oil Filters! He'll clean filter elements, replace dirty cartridges, record mileage. Every time hood is lifted, he'll check mileage to be sure filters have been serviced at proper intervals.

3 He'll refill with great Conoco Super Motor Oil! Conoco Super is fortified with additives that curb dangerous accumulation of dirt and contamination—protect metal surfaces from corrosive combustion acids—fight rust—OIL-PLATE against wear.

Chamber of Commerce Plans for Homecoming Float Next Month

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the West Texas State College Homecoming Parade which will be October 11. A parade committee has been selected which consists of Mutt Myers, chairman, Jerry Newman, Jack Walker, Bill Sternberg, R. B. Allen, Clarence Eugene Thompson, and Clay Cooper.

By securing the help of several other Chamber of Commerce members, there is a large program planned for this year's parade. There will be a special committee to contact the college to build floats for the parade, a special committee to contact merchants for commercial floats, and also a committee to contact people for non-commercial floats other than that of the college.

There is also being planned to have out-of-town chambers to enter floats and out-of-town special events; invite out-of-town mayors and plan to have Walter Rogers, Representative for the 18th Congressional District, present for this event. This committee wishes to stress the fact if at all possible to have the least amount of just plain farm equipment and automobiles to enter the parade.

The parade committee has decided to have a larger amount of prize money. This is to be broken down in three different categories. Prize money will be given to first prize winners of each category. First prize non-commercial float will be $75; first prize commercial float will be $50, and first prize special events will be $25.

Out-of-town judges that are to be picked will judge the three categories as first, second and third places but each prize will be given only to first place winners. The parade is scheduled to begin at 10:30 on the morning of October 11.

The Chamber of Commerce also has a committee that is planning a float for the Tri-State Fair parade to be held September 22 in Amarillo. This committee is made up of Ples Harper, chairman, Charlie Donnell, Jimmy Flynn, Bernard Warren, and Miss Claudia Neelley.

This committee also plans to have this float to enter the parade which the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring to advertise the West Texas State-McMurry football game to be played in Amarillo September 27. This parade will be at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. This day, September 27, is also set aside by the Tri-State Fair Association as "Canyon Day."

Randall County and West Texas State College Day" at the fair. There is being planned to have a large delegation from Canyon representing Randall County and the college for this day. This delegation will be met by a reception committee of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce at the city limits and be escorted downtown to the parade and then on to the fair grounds.

Two New Members Of WT Staff Here

Two new staff members have been appointed at West Texas State College for the 1952-53 season, according to Dr. James P. Cornette, president. They are Denver Cornelius, instructor in industrial arts and print shop operator, and Mrs. Don Davis, assistant dietitian.

Cornelius, who arrived this week to assist with installation of new printing equipment, holds the Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degree in industrial arts from Sam Houston State Teachers College. During his last two years he was production foreman of the college printing plant, and since graduating, he has worked as floorman for the Crockett Democrat.

Mrs. Davis will complete five hours of work at WT in order to earn her degree at North Texas State College, where she has been working toward her B.S. with a major in foods and nutrition. Mr. Davis, who has also been attending NTSC, will be a senior in education here this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stratton were here from his work in Blackwell, Okla., to visit over the week end in the parental C. H. Stratton home.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Waggoner and family spent Sunday in Perryton with relatives and friends.

Ah! — But Look Beneath!

New Equipment for College Print Shop

Several heavy pieces of equipment for West Texas State College's expanding printing plant have been received and are being installed in the shop in the basement of the Administration Building. President James P. Cornette announced today.

A new printing instructor and shop operator, Denver Cornelius, has arrived on the campus to assist with the installation and to join John Gillis, department head, in the industrial arts department.

Two presses a new vertical Mehle V 50 and a rebuilt flat-bed Mehle 4, three roller, have been moved into the shop, and a Model 31 linotype is already in use. Other new equipment includes a stitcher or stapler, a folder, a metal saw, a 30-inch power Chandler paper cutter, and a five-column stereotype caster.

The shop already had two platen presses and fonts of type for hand composition. Mr. Gillis said that about 15 fonts of linotype matrices will be added for shop use, and that additional fonts of hand-set type will be purchased.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Roberts of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Roberts and children of Levelland, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Henry and children of Amarillo visited last week in the homes of W. E. Roberts and Art Roberts.

Mrs. Joe Gibson has moved here from Childress to join her husband who is superintendent of the public schools. They are living in the Warren Apartments, 305 20th Street.

Former Mission Worker Buried in Bovina Tuesday

Mrs. Mae Abbott, who formerly worked with the Mexican Mission of the First Baptist Church in Canyon died last Sunday in Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene, and was buried in Bovina Tuesday afternoon, September 9.

Mrs. J. D. Key, Mrs. Van Pennington, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stratton, Anita Martinez, and Mrs. T. H. Knighton attended the funeral.

A request had been made that no flowers be sent but those wishing to should send gifts or memorial donations to the American Bible Society at Dallas as a memorial to Mrs. Abbott.

Scouts Get Logs For Camporee at National Forest

Stuart Condon and Edd Pettitt left for New Mexico Saturday after the scouts swimming meet to get material for the Camporee to be held next month. They were accompanied by Roy Hunter, Mac Boswell, Arthur Lee Pruitt, Alan Hanks, and Craig Hinger, scouts of Troop 66.

Leaders and members of the scout troop went to Pecos to a camp that had been set up Saturday morning by Terry Wilson, Charles Morris, and John Morris, Explorer Adviser, in the Santa Fe National Forest at an altitude of 8,000 feet.

Over 400 trees were to be felled and brought back to Canyon by Leonard Winters. The trees will be used in the Canyon Camporee for tree felling, tower building, and monkey bridge building.

Mrs. Geo. I. Taylor, former resident of Canyon, is here visiting friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor are now living at Portland, Oregon.

Mrs. Gailen Cox began working in the office of the West Texas Motor Company Tuesday.

Mrs. J. D. Pruitt is now working in the Beard's Insurance Agency office.

Guests last week in the W. G. Boston home were Mrs. Boston's brother, A. C. Gordon, and Mrs. Gordon of Coleman, Texas, and Mrs. Myrtle Gollmer from California.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hutton left Monday morning for Ottawa, Kansas, on business and to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy B. Tabor spent Saturday and Sunday in Dumas with their daughter and grandsons. Mrs. Coystall T. Stone, Tabor and Mike. Mrs. Stone is a member of the Dumas Public School faculty.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Knapp have returned home after having visited for the past two weeks in Los Angeles.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE
18th DISTRICT OF TEXAS
FROM YOUR
CONGRESSMAN
Walter Rogers

The Tax Problem: For The Next Few Years

One of the greatest fights in Congress for the next few years will not be confined alone to cutting government expenditures in numerous fields.

The biggest problem will be to see that the benefits of these expenditure cuts benefit the individual taxpayers. History reveals that the cutting of government expenditures in various fields does not always mean relief for the taxpayer.

So many times the money saved by expenditure cuts in one field have been used in other fields or for the promotion of additional schemes, the result being no tax reduction. How many of you have ever heard of a tax law being repealed?

Many times additional taxes are levied and the people are told that the taxes collected from the new source will be used as a substitute for taxes that have been collected from some other source in the past. Looking again to history, we find that such has not been the case.

The so-called "substitute" tax is usually misnamed, because it ends up as an additional tax burden. Once a tax has been levied, whether it be local, state or federal, it usually stays on the books.

A good example is the income tax. This originated as a tax that would be a fair and equitable tax borne equally by all according to income, and a tax that would provide measurable reductions in taxes theretofore collected from other tax sources.

This same theory has been used in many states and cities to pass local and state income tax laws. The same is true of the sales tax. However, the result has always been the same. The money collected from these additional so-called "substitute" taxes has never been sufficient to effect a reduction in other taxes. Actually, the existence of the funds thereby collected has always resulted in increased governmental expenditures providing additional services by the government to the people, many of which were not solicited and are unwanted.

The job that Congress will have in the next few years is to see that cuts in federal spending result in direct benefit to the individual taxpayer in the form of a reduced tax bill.

It makes little difference who may be President or which party may have control of Congress, this job is going to be just as big, for the simple reason that most politicians, regardless of party, regardless of platform, and regardless of promises, seem to recognize as a cardinal rule that expenditures by the government providing all kinds of services to the citizens will sustain them in power.

It is my belief that such a rule is false, especially in the Panhandle of Texas, that our people would much prefer that government services be confined to necessary services, and that the individual retain possession and control of as many of his dollars as possible. However, the fact remains that it is no less difficult today than in yesteryear to repeal or reduce a tax levy. We are gaining much strength in our efforts to bring tax relief to the individual taxpayer, and I sincerely hope that this gain will continue.

The Veterans Housing Scandals
The report that was recently released by a select committee condemning the practice of some buildings preying upon veterans should not only awaken the building trade, but should also awaken the veteran. Many of the veterans bought houses relying upon the representations of fast talking real estate promoters. This has proven to be a sad experience for many of them. Let us hope that in the future the veteran will get his contracts in writing and will go into the matter fully as to what he is paying for and what he is to get.

It is too bad that some people have dropped so low in their morals that they would prey upon a boy who has so ably and patriotically served his country. The veteran certainly had the right to rely upon representations of his fellow man, but the fact remains that in many cases he has been taken. This experience naturally results in causing the veteran to look with suspicion on all people in that business.

The building trade, realizing that the unscrupulous practices of a few in their ranks brings condemnation on the entire trade, has commenced a program to adjust wrongs and weed out the unscrupulous. The success of their efforts in this respect will determine whether or not federal legislation will be passed.

The veterans who have been wronged are certainly entitled to redress, and it is up to those who have committed the wrong to provide the redress. The unscrupulous practices uncovered on the part of some of the builders was an indirect raid on the public treasury. These practices not only affected the veterans, but the final result will be an impact on the taxpayer. The loans on these houses are insured by the federal government. If the loans are not paid, then the federal government becomes responsible.

This means that if a borrower defaults in the payment of a loan on a house that was purchased for $12,000 and the house is sold at a foreclosure sale for less than the amount of the loan at the time of the default, the federal government becomes liable for the difference. The many defects in some of these houses could easily reduce the value of the house by several thousand dollars. This, plus a slight downturn in the real estate market, could easily result in liability of the federal government for several thousand dollars on many of these defective houses. John Q. Taxpayer would, of course, end up paying the bill.

If any of us were asked, "What's a caste system?" we'd begin ransacking memory for something we had seen in a movie about India.

Although habit tends to dim our awareness, there's actually ample evidence for a definition right here at home. Take this matter of a cottage at the seacoast or a mountain cabin. Almost everyone who buys one of these summer homes does so with the intention of leading a simple life. Of getting away from complex living and back to nature. And that's the way it stays, usually, for one year.

At first they're perfectly happy in their one-room, rough log shack. Then they realize that their fishing partners have one room and a lean-to. That lean-to makes all the difference. So next year a building project gets under way. Meantime the lean-to couple, unaware of their own prestige, discover the luxury of someone else's spacious sleeping loft. That does it; they lose out on the fishing next season to add one. Then some softie spoils the landscape with a butane tank. Tongues wag for a few months, but soon the luxury of cooking on gas wins out and here we go again.

Neighbors, back home from their various resorts, begin to compare notes. The Johnsons ride five miles to the ranger station to make an emergency call; the Smiths have a telephone. Next season the Johnsons sell their cabin and go over to the Smith's resort.

What started as a search for the simple life becomes a highly competitive and thoroughly American race to come up with, if not outdo, the other fellow. In its democratic, American version the caste system might be explained as "a desire to keep up with the Joneses." Nothing compulsory about it; just good clean fun.

MRS. PITT IS HOSTESS TO CENTRAL H. D. CLUB FRIDAY

The Central Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. P. L. Pitt Friday, September 12. A business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. George Barker.

Mrs. Rae M. Walters had the opening exercise. Mrs. Levi Cole gave a council report.

Three of the members will take the course in advanced dress making which is to start soon. Those who will be taking the course are: Mrs. Win Matsler, Mrs. Billie Sargee, and Mrs. Fred Marshall. Mrs. S. L. Terry will be the leader of this group.

Mrs. Mae Johnson and Mrs. Fred Marshall gave the program from the yearbook.

During the social hour delicious refreshments were served to Mesdames George Barker, Levi Cole, P. L. Pitt, S. L. Terry, and R. E. Foster.

Rae M. Walters, Mae Johnson, Fred Marshall, George Schaeffer, Win Matsler, Billie Sargee, J. M. Breitling, and Mrs. Clair Knox, a visitor.

The Central H. D. Club will have its family party on September 19. The party will begin at 7:30 o'clock in the evening at the home of Mrs. Rae M. Walters. Everyone is invited to come and bring a covered dish. The next meeting will be held on September 26 with Mrs. Fred Marshall.

Joseph McCarthy, Wisconsin Senator who has made an all-out attack on subversive influences in the Government, is somewhat startled to find how many important politicians now are his friends after his unprecedented sweep in a campaign for renomination. Until the votes were counted, few politicians wanted it known that they knew McCarthy. Now many are interested in his formula.

Charles Brannan, Secretary of Agriculture, who did so much to sell Mr. Truman to the farmers in 1948, is not undertaking the same job for Stevenson. There is some question about farmers' reaction to the Brannan plan for controlling agriculture and about alleged rigging of markets in 1948.

Cooley - Reynolds Nuptial Vows Read In All Saints Episcopal Church Sept. 5

MR. AND MRS. EARL REYNOLDS

Nuptial vows were exchanged by Joann Cooley of Canyon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Webb B. Cooley of Dallas, and Earl Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edd Reynolds of Canyon, on Friday morning, Sept. 5, in All Saints Episcopal Church.

Rev. Henry F. Seaman, rector, read the single-ring service. Mrs. Michael Morris, organist, played traditional wedding selections and Miss Pam McDonald sang "O Perfect Love."

Garlands of fern and white carnations, tied with white satin bows, decorated the altar rail. The altar was flanked with vases of white carnations and candelabra. Robert Joyner lighted the candles.

Attending her sister as maid-of-honor, Miss Miriam Cooley wore a soldier blue flannel suit with navy accessories. She carried a colonial nosegay of pink sweetheart roses tufted with pink maline.

Clarence Reynolds, of Bristol, Colo., was his cousin's best man. Ushers were James Joyner and Charles Joyner, Jr.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a soldier blue flannel suit accented with navy accessories. She carried a white prayer book marked with a white orchid and showered with stephanotis.

Mrs. Cooley, mother of the bride, wore a black crepe dress. Her

MRS. HUNGATE IS HOSTESS TO WOMAN'S WESLEY BIBLE CLASS

On Wednesday, September 10, 14 members of the Woman's Wesley Bible Class of the Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. Rosa Hungate for their monthly covered dish luncheon.

Fun for the occasion, aside from the pleasure of viewing the beautiful country home of the hostess and enjoyment of the extravagant dinner, consisted in counting the blessings in the shape of children and grandchildren. Mrs. Moore led with seven children and Mrs. Hattie Brasuel with 19 grandchildren. In all the group there were 51 children, 87 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Those attending were Mesdames Moore, Brasuel, J. T. Service, Mary Jenkins, Barton, E. C. Penick, L. J. McGehee, L. L. Gore, Bailey, W. H. Stroud (a special guest), and Miss M. Moss Richardson.

Always singing of songs is part of the occasion of the class meetings. This time the songs were "Gathering Home" in memory of Mrs. Sims and the dismissal song, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," sung with hands clasped forming a living circle.

CENTERVIEW CLUB BEGINS YEAR'S WORK AT SCHOOL

The Centerview Home Demonstration Club met Friday afternoon, September 5, at 2:30 o'clock at the school house. The meeting was called to order by the president, Vivian Myers.

Twelve members answered the roll call. Madge Sutton, secretary, read the minutes and called the roll.

Plans were made for the bread show which will be held in October. Members of the Westside H. D. Club will be entertained at that same meeting.

Eight members asked to have the course in advanced dressmaking which will start this month. Theo Wise will go to Canyon one day a week to take the lesson and in turn will present it to the club.

A program on beauty was presented as follows: "More Becoming Hair Arrangements," Evelyn Shipman; "The Beauty Clinic," Lavenia Amerson; "I'm a Homely Woman," Grace Schaeffer.

The program for the first meeting, which was substituted with this second meeting program, will be held September 19 at 2:30 p. m. in the home of Evelyn Shipman. Mrs. Shipman will demonstrate raised doughnuts at that time.

Refreshments were served at the social hour to Serena Bryan, Evelyn Shipman and children, Laurie Brazil and grandsons, Ora Evans, Theo Wise and Keith, Annie Wesley, Grace Schaeffer, Lizzie Wesley, Lavenia Amerson, Madge Sutton, Vivian Myers, and Inez Shipman.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Webb B. Cooley, Jr., and Carolyn Ann and Wayne Raymond of Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Chamberlain of Nacogdoches; Mrs. H. W. Hartman of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Shotwell of Pampa; and Mrs. Ruth Fagan of Dallas.

Now is the time to put out peonies and strawberries. You will find them both at Stevens' Floral.

Cayton - Cummings Wedding Rites Read in West Texas Memorial Chapel

Memorial Chapel on the West Texas State College campus, was the scene on August 31 for the marriage of Miss Carolyn Faye Cayton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cayton, Jr., of Vega, to Clancy Stirling Cummings, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Cummings of Canyon. Rev. Winston Wilbanks, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Canyon, read the double ring ceremony. The vows were solemnized before an altar with a background of gold cross flanked by chapel candles.

The chancel rail was marked with branch candelabra bearing cathedral tapers highlighted with white satin bows and jade palms. The chancel steps were flanked with large basket arrangements of white gladioli.

While guests gathered, Miss Alice Loyd, organist, of Amarillo, played nuptial selections. Mrs. Bill Tolbert sang "O Promise Me" and "Because." Traditional wedding marches were used.

C. L. Hood of Wichita Falls, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Albert Craig, Richmond Payne, and Robert McClendon. Serving as ushers were Jimmy Cornette, Donald McDonald, Garland Butler, Robert Busted, and Robert Ratliff.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Mary Cayton of Vega. She wore a gown of autumn blue nylon lace over taffeta, which was fashioned with an off shoulder bodice to which was attached a full tiered skirt. Her gown was completed with white lace mitts, and she carried a nosegay of white gardenias and stephanotis.

Bridesmaids, Misses Ruth London and Betty Maddux, wore gowns of green lace over taffeta and pink lace over taffeta styled similarly to the maid of honor and carried nosegays of white carnations. Mrs. Elma Lynn Hood served as matron of honor and was attired in autumn blue lace over taffeta styled identically to maids of honor and carried a nosegay of white carnations and stephanotis.

Ushered to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white bridal satin and rose point lace styled with a portrait yoke of nylon net highlighted with pleated rose point lace and a high neckline. The long satin sleeves terminated in lace. She carried a cascade of arrangement of tinted pink

Miss Billie Money Is Honored With Bridal Shower

The home of Mrs. A. B. Holt was the scene for a miscellaneous bridal shower given Thursday evening from 6:30 to 9 o'clock honoring Miss Billie Marie Money, bride-elect of Lonnie Woody of Dumas. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Holt for the occasion were Mesdames E. L. Hardaway, J. A. Edwards, Jr., Jack Barnard, C. F. Rogers, Richard Gidden, Cecil Simms, T. H. Crawford, Walter Graham, T. C. Gooch, and Crews Henry.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Holt, Miss Money, her mother, Mrs. Bill Money, and Mrs. W. I. Woody of Childress, mother of the bridegroom-to-be.

Corsages of bronze chrysanthemums were presented to the honoree, her mother, and Mrs. Woody by the hostesses.

Single bronze dahlias were worn by members of the house party: Mrs. Elsie Money, grandmother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Bailey Woody of Dumas, sister-in-law of the bridegroom-to-be.

Eloyce Money, cousin of the bride-elect, secured names for the guest book.

The entertaining rooms were decorated with bouquets of chrysanthemums. Centering the lace covered refreshment table was an arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums, encircling a styrofoam heart edged with gold lace to which were attached green satin streamers bearing the names "Billie and Lonnie" inscribed in gold. At either side were tall green tapers in crystal holders.

Miss Chloe Ann Black presided at the punch bowl while Miss Ema Gene Zachry served individual decorated cakes.

Approximately 125 attended or sent gifts.

ZITA H. D. CLUB MAKES PLANS FOR YEARS WORK AT MEETING

The Zita Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Donald Olson Tuesday, September 7.

Mrs. Emil Olson, president, presided at the business meeting. Following roll call and reading of the minutes, Mrs. Arthur Olson gave a council report. She told of plans for entertaining the Palo Duro-Rusk H. D. Club October 14, and suggested that members of the Zita club take bread entries to the Tri-State Fair.

Mrs. Forrest Gruner, clothing demonstrator, told of plans for an intensive five weeks course in advanced dressmaking.

Mrs. Glenn Truax presented a report from the revision committee on changes to be made in the constitution.

Plans were made for further study and the business meeting adjourned.

The hostess served yeast donuts with frosted Cokes to the following members: Mesdames Wayland Angel, Forrest Gruner, Bailie McCormick, E. A. Michael, Emil Olson, Arthur Olson, H. D. Rose, Marshall Rockwell, Sr., Ralph Ruthart, and Glenn Truax.

MRS. ALBERT BYARS HOSTESS TO TOWN AND COUNTRY CLUB

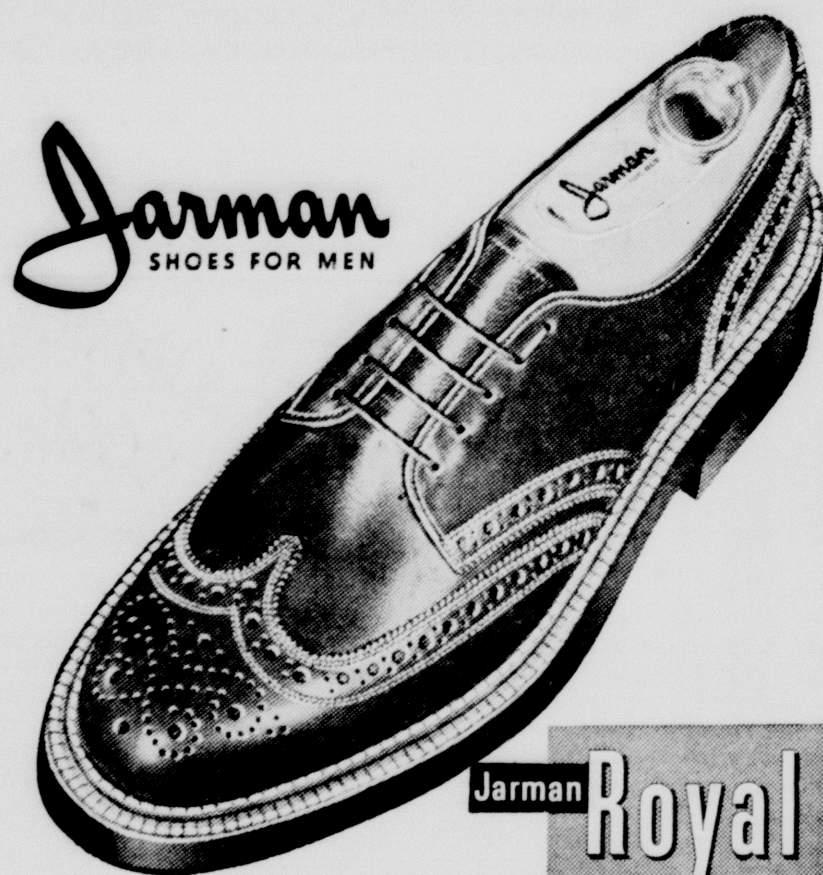

On Thursday afternoon, Sept. 4, the Town and Country Club met as guests of Mrs. Albert Byars.

After a series of games of "42" delicious refreshments were served by the hostess to Mesdames Emil Olson, Arthur Olson, Bob Gatten, Edd Reynolds, Jack Foster, Harold Byars, John Cook, Glen Costley, Tom Lair and W. T. Sparkman.

On Thursday night, September 18, the club members will be entertained with their husbands in the Jack Foster home with a hamburger fry.

Art Exhibit Starts at Museum Sunday, September 21

Louis R. Neugebauer, famed Viennese artist and instructor of classic painting and decorative art in Amarillo and Tulia, will exhibit his paintings and some of the paintings of his pupils at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in Canyon beginning Sunday, September 21. The exhibit is free and open to the public.

Mr. Neugebauer came to the Panhandle from Vienna about three years ago. In Austria he had been national director of photography and art. During the last World War he was captured by the Russians and sentenced to death. He owes his life to a Russian army cook who interceded in his behalf, pointing out to officers that he was a photographer and might be more valuable alive than dead.

His daughter, whose husband, Dr. Clark Ellzey, is a professor in Stevens College, Columbia, Mo., persuaded him to come to the United States. He visited in Amarillo and was so impressed with the scenic beauty of Palo Duro Park that he remained in Amarillo and began teaching art.

Neugebauer was able to bring only a few of his paintings with him from Austria and his versatility is demonstrated in a comparison of the scenes of the Old World with those he has done of the Southwest since his arrival here.

During his brief stay in the west he has learned much about its ways, its love of horses, cattle and the outdoors and has reflected this on his canvases.

Outstanding is his horse's head which was voted the most popular canvas in the Amarillo Art Exhibit, sponsored by the Federation of Women's Clubs. His painting of a yucca plant in all the beauty of full bloom with a rattlesnake in all its vicious ugliness curled at the foot of the plant symbolizes the beauty of the Southwest and the hardships it offered its earliest settlers.

His pictures of the Palo Duro Park with a subdued mantle of snow across the violet colors and in full sunlight are attracting great interest in the Panhandle.

Mr. Neugebauer is somewhat of an explorer and it was he and V. C. Claytor who discovered the largest known cave in Palo Duro Park.

He has exhibited his paintings at Columbia, Mo.; Mexico City, Mo.; twice at the Amarillo Art Center; at the Amarillo Center of West Texas State under the auspices of the Connoisseur Club; and at Palo Duro Park and at Abilene and Naval Academy.

Mr. Neugebauer thinks the scenic beauty of Palo Duro Park surpasses Taos and that the Panhandle should establish an art center here equal to or surpassing the one at Taos, and he is eager to cooperate with all artists of the Panhandle toward this goal.

SUE HITE MEETING NOTICE

Eagles Snatch 13-6 Victory From Cowboys

Canyon's high school Eagles sailed off with a 13 to 6 victory over the Happy Cowboys Friday night in Buffalo Stadium. R. A. Burgess carried the ball over for the first touchdown early in the first quarter and Arlen Ruthart carried the ball over for the extra point.

For their second TD the Eagles took to the air. Burgess got off a long pass to Tommy Middleton who went over the goal line to give the Eagles their 13 points. The extra point failed and the first half ended with the Eagles having 13 points and the Cowboys nothing.

The Cowboys really started their rally in the first half. A few minutes before the whistle blew they started a power drive that threatened to score. The Happy crew functions beautifully as a team and among their top quality players are Buddy Selvidge, Joe Barrett, Forrest Bowe, Bob Ferguson and Thurman Oler.

At half time during the game Canyon's band gave a wonderful demonstration. The lights were turned out for one exhibit in which a girl twirled a baton that was blazing on both ends.

A crowd of about 2,500 people saw the game pick up steam in the third quarter. The Cowboys continued their steam roller effect until they got their first and only TD. Joe Barrett lugged the pigskin over for the score but the extra kick was blocked.

After the touchdown the Eagles tightened up and the two teams rocked back and forth with neither scoring for the remainder of the game. Some outstanding plays were made for the Eagles by Lynn Williams, A. C. Wimberly, R. A. Burgess, Dick Dawdy, Tommy Middleton, Dan Gaylor, and Tommy Myers. Once Ruthart came in from behind Forrest Bowe to end a 20 yard Cowboy run. In another play Wimberly knifed through the Cowboy line to stop Buddy Selvidge for no gain.

Both teams showed some reserve in taking to the air. Two passes were completed by the Cowboys and one by the Eagles. The most spectacular play was the one Burgess tossed to Middleton and Middleton's 32 yard scamper for the second Eagle TD.

The cowboys were penalized four times for a total of 20 yards. The Eagles sustained seven penalties for a total loss of 60 yards. The Cowboys gained 245 yards rushing and the Eagles made 249. The Cowboys made 13 first downs, the Eagles, six.

Rheumatic Heart Disease Disables Many Children

Rheumatic fever and its complication, rheumatic heart disease, probably disable more school age children than any other cause except accidents, declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Rheumatic fever is a well known enemy of children, still physicians do not know exactly what causes it. It usually appears about two weeks after an infection caused by germs of the streptococcus such as tonsillitis, scarlet fever or sore throat. Some children appear more susceptible than others and this trait seems to run in families. Rheumatic fever can occur in any surroundings, but it is most common among children living in poor and crowded homes, and among children who do not get enough of what is called the protective foods such as milk, eggs, meat, butter, fresh fruits, vegetables and the like.

Rheumatic fever actually has no symptoms that are all its own. A few of the group of symptoms the doctor looks for are: persistent fever, poor appetite, tiredness, failure to gain weight, paleness, repeated nosebleeds and especially pain and inflammation that moves from joint to joint.

Rheumatic fever is a disease that may affect any part of the body—skin, joints, blood vessels, heart or brain—but usually it is the heart that is most seriously affected. Unless they are prevented by good management, the acute attacks have a tendency to come back again and again. When this happens, the valves of the heart are usually affected: Sometimes so slightly that the child is not handicapped; sometimes so seriously that the child dies. The present day treatment of rheumatic fever is directed at two things. First, reducing the risk of heart damage from an acute attack by bed rest and appropriate treatment with drugs. Second, doing everything possible to prevent another attack after recovery from the first.

GOOD SELECTION OF GOOD USED CARS and PICK-UPS SAMUELSON MOTOR CO.

RING AND VALVE JOB

SIMPLE and QUICK with MOTALOY

LASTS FOR 200,000 MILES

NO EQUIPMENT TO BUY--NO WORK TO DO

SEE what MOTALOY Corrects

MOTALOY's action is almost unbelievably simple. You just drop the tabs into the fuel tank. That's ALL the effort required! After the tabs are placed in the fuel tank the fuel will set up a chemical reaction with the metallic tabs. This reaction will be completed in the combustion chambers of the engine, where an anti-friction coat of metal will be deposited on the cylinder walls, pistons, ring faces, valve seats, guides and stems. You'll get increased combustion, better pick-up, reduced oil consumption, better gas mileage, little or no motor noise, no hard carbon deposits. There are no solid metals to go thru or clog the fuel line or carburetor. MOTALOY, an anti-friction metal plate, will fill in worn spots, grooves, pitted and scratched surfaces; and is guaranteed to last for at least 200,000 miles. Results should be noticed within 50 miles, and by 500 miles some substantial differences in performance and in oil and fuel consumption of the vehicle will be noted. MOTALOY saves the average user $100 per year. A cab, normally driving 50,000 or more miles, will save $250 to $400. Trucks, buses and larger vehicles will save proportionately. MOTALOY is good for new as well as old cars. In a new motor, MOTALOY will retain factory compression for at least 200,000 miles. MOTALOY cannot harm finest motor.

Guarantee

MOTALOY is guaranteed by the manufacturer to last at least 200,000 miles. MOTALOY is guaranteed to increase mileage. MOTALOY is guaranteed to eliminate excessive oil consumption due to worn valves and pistons unless due to other defective or damaged parts. MOTALOY is guaranteed harmless to any internal combustion engine. MOTALOY is unconditionally guaranteed to improve the overall performance of any internal combustion engine, unless otherwise mechanically defective.

CARS
DIESELS

WHAT IS MOTALOY? MOTALOY is composed of an alloy which includes nine different metals. MOTALOY metallic "tabs" are the most sensational motor development in recent years. Tested in the laboratory and on the road for over two years and 3,000,000 miles, they have PROVED their ability to improve any engine and to save money on gas, oil and repairs. Simply inserted in the fuel tank, the "tabs" actually build up worn parts through a tin-plated process. The result is a smoother, more powerful and quieter engine... in a new, different and thoroughly proved way. MOTALOY SAVES TIME AND SAVES MONEY.

MOTALOY DOES IT—While you Drive
Cars - Trucks - Tractors - Diesels - Motorcycles & Motor Boats
Regardless of the Age of the Motor

- MOTALOY saves fuel... saves time and money.
- MOTALOY restores lost power and compression.
- MOTALOY stops oil leaking past rings.
- MOTALOY fills scored cylinder walls.
- MOTALOY improves valve action.
- MOTALOY stops piston slap.

MOTALOY IS AVAILABLE IN THREE SIZES:

1. For vehicles making 8 miles or more to the gallon of fuel—$6.00
2. For Vehicles making less than 8 miles to the gallon of fuel—$7.50
3. For Trucks or Trailer-Tractors with side (saddle) Tanks—$9.00

Senator Nixon Will Speak on Sept. 26 at Fair

SEN. RICHARD NIXON

Plans for the September 26 appearance of Republican Vice-Presidential Nominee Richard M. Nixon at Amarillo were announced today by Ben Guill, Eisenhower-Nixon state campaign manager.

The California senator will arrive in Amarillo in a special chartered plane at 6 p. m. on the 26th. From 6 p. m. to 6:30 p. m., he will conduct a press conference in the dining hall of the Amarillo terminal building. Newspaper, radio and television representatives from all over the state will be invited to attend.

At 6:30 p. m., Senator Nixon will be driven to the Tri-State Fair Grounds at Amarillo where he will make a 15-minute speech to officially launch the Eisenhower-Nixon campaign in Texas. The 6:45 to 7 p. m. talk will be broadcast over the facilities of the Texas Quality Network.

Wes Izzard, publisher of the Amarillo Globe-Times, will make the introduction.

Following the principal address, Senator Nixon will appear on a 15-minute radio program with Mr. Izzard acting as the interviewer. Plans are for the Amarillo newsmen to collect questions from over the Panhandle area that newsmen and others want asked of Senator Nixon.

Between 7:15 and 7:30 p. m., after the Izzard interview, the Senator will tour the fair grounds. He will leave for the Amarillo Municipal Airport at 7:30 p. m. and will depart for Tulsa at 7:45. This will be the first official visit to the State by a GOP nominee in the 1952 presidential race. Senator Nixon is expected to give a fighting speech to launch the Texas campaign.

EASY TO PLEASE

An editor thinks modern novelists write for their own pleasure. If so, most of them seem to be wonderfully easy to please.

Mark W. Clark, General, U. S. A. U. N. Commander in Korean Area: "If the Reds strike with full air strength, there should be no holds barred. We should retaliate as circumstances dictate."

John Quincy Adams was the only ex-president to return to Washington as a representative in Congress.

David Livingston's body was carried through Africa for ten months so that he might be buried in England.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, Protestant minister: "American people are so keyed up it is impossible even to put them to sleep with a sermon."

The word "piccolo" literally means small.

Beth Kimbrough Returns from European Study

BETH KIMBROUGH

Miss Beth Kimbrough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kimbrough, returned from Paris, France, Tuesday morning, September 9, after having spent three months studying dramatic production in Paris. She flew from New York via St. Louis where she visited over the week end.

Miss Kimbrough says that her summer was a wonderful experience and profitable to her beyond evaluation. Paris exceeded expectations which made the summer much more enjoyable.

Since the opera is subsidized by the government in France, all their properties, costumes, and every detail is superb. The group from the States saw numerous good plays. The repertory group of Europe was playing at the Main Opera House which is the world's finest, and Miss Kimbrough saw several of their best programs.

She made many interesting trips to points of interest in the vicinity of Paris and spent many hours in museums, cathedrals, and in seeing the best and most interesting places within the city.

Miss Kimbrough returned to Baylor University at Waco Monday where she is an instructor in the drama department and director and general manager of the Baylor Theatre Children's Playhouse.

Radio Story Methodist Home Sunday

The story of the Methodist Home at Waco actually told by the children themselves will go on the air again Sunday, September 21, at 8:15 a. m. over 14 radio stations. The Home is dramatizing activities from the lives of its more than 400 children again this fall on Sunday morning because of an enthusiastic response from radio listeners all over the Southwest last fall. Some of them wrote that they had contributed to its support many years without ever having been able to visit its campus, and that the radio programs gave them a vivid picture of its life. Students and ex-students have done most of the script-writing, and are acting out the incidents. Music by the Home choir will be a feature of the 15-minute broadcasts which are entitled, "These Are Your Children."

Radio station which will carry the program is KGNC, Amarillo.

Just Between You, Me and
... the Gatepost

(By Lawrence Hunnicutt)

Already the atmosphere is charged with activity and school spirit. High school football got underway Friday night when the Canyon Eagles met the Happy Cowboys in Buffalo Stadium. Next Saturday night Coach Frank Kimbrough's Buffaloes start their season by pawing at the Red Raiders of Tech.

Saw Mitchell Jones, dean of men at West Texas State College, Friday. He was happy about the future outlook for the college. It seems that more students are enrolling than was expected. The ROTC courses to be offered down there may have been instrumental in bringing the boys to WTSC. Then to complete the circle it's just possible that the boys were instrumental in bringing the girls to college.

Congratulations are in order for Jim Flynn or Mrs. Flynn or both. At any rate they're the parents of twins, a boy and a girl. The last account we had here at The News the babies had not been named. The mother and babies were doing fine and so was Jim. He was passing out two cigars instead of the usual one. He had to give one for each twin.

Last Wednesday was also a sort of a red letter day here at The News office. It marked the tenth year since Charlie Hillier began work with The Canyon News.

As the old saying goes, "a lot of water has gone over the dam" since the 10th of September, 1942, when Charlie first started to work with The News. A war has ended, a cold war has been entered, and the Korean conflict has come to threaten a third global conflict. These are all very important phases in the life of a newsmen.

The weather was in the news in more than one way last week. There was a little rain and some welcomed cool weather which brought a great deal of relief from heat and drought to this area. John Brazzil said that we did not get enough rain to help next year's wheat crop for those who wanted to use it for winter pasture. He said we were still almost six inches shy of our usual annual amount of rainfall.

It was also last week that approximately 200 people met at the Herring Hotel in Amarillo to discuss the Canadian River Dam project. As if to show the people what a paradox it could make for them, the weather let go with an abundant supply of water on the area in the form of rain. Even this didn't dampen the spirit of those attending.

Those attending from Canyon included Mayor A. L. Walsh, City Commissioner Herschel Coffee, a member of The News staff, and five members of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber of Commerce men present at the water meeting were President Clark Jarnagin, Secretary-Manager Glenn Waggoner, and three members of the board of directors, Dr. Charles Nester, Clarence Eugene Thompson, and Dr. Ples Harper.

City Secretary Dudley Bayne said last week that work on the new sewer disposal plant was coming on very well. It was hoped that the new plant would be ready for use by mid-December but it was doubtful that this would be possible. At that time the construction company had already had some trouble and there was the possibility of future handicaps slowing down the work.

And right here is a good place to slow down and insert the handicaps in this column. As usual we present the trailing off that some people may call the sour note, it's time for Chirps of Wisdom.

Some people are so conceited they start cheering every time they look in a mirror.

Hardest tumble a man can take is to fall over his own bluff.

A smile unlocks the door to friendship—a frown bolts the door.

The greatest cad of them all is the guy who would marry Marilyn Monroe for her money.

Troop 66 Takes
First Place in Swimming Meet

Boy Scouts and Explorers of Canyon's Troop 66 won first place in the annual Llano Estacado swimming meet Saturday at the San Jacinto Youth Center Pool in Amarillo. They won the meet with 36 points which was an even 10 points ahead of the troop taking second place.

Stuart Condon is scoutmaster of Canyon's Troop 66. The winning troop was sponsored by the Canyon First Christian Church. Second place winner was an Amarillo troop sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church of Amarillo.

More than 200 scouts competed Saturday in such swimming events as the 40 yard breast stroke, side stroke, back stroke, American crawl, and eight man relay team free style.

Canyon's Explorer group rolled up 36 points; Amarillo's Troop 13 collected a total of 26 points for second place; Troop 99 of Post, third place with 18 points; and Troop 10 with 17 points for fourth place.

Troop 66 scouts participating in the event were Craig Hinger, Roy Hunter, James Young, Alan Hanks, Leonard Miller, Mac Boswell, Tommy McBroom, Arthur Lee Pruitt, John Cross, Bill Harrison, Charles Joyner, Perry Slagle, and Raymond Haddock.

Carroll Vaughan, instructor of Troop 66, has many plans for the swimmers who have shown so much improvement and promise during the time he has worked with them. It is hoped that next summer Troop 66 can have many swimming meets here in Canyon.

Wayne Morse, Senator from Oregon, back from an investigation into U. S. military bases overseas, figures hundreds of millions can be saved by better planning.

How to have a winning
TELEPHONE
PERSONALITY
by EMILY POST

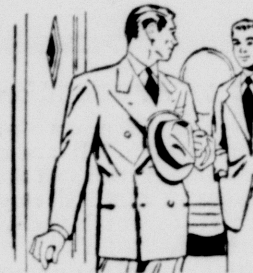

We're often judged by the way we use telephone service. Good telephone technique and good telephone manners are important to a winning personality . . . and help you get the most from your telephone service.

One of my newspaper readers writes, "Nothing annoys me as much as hurrying to answer a ringing phone, only to find there is no one on the other end."

Many people ask me, "In a telephone conversation, who should end the call?"

An acquaintance asks, "Mrs. Post, won't you please say something about children who hang onto busy party lines by the hour?"

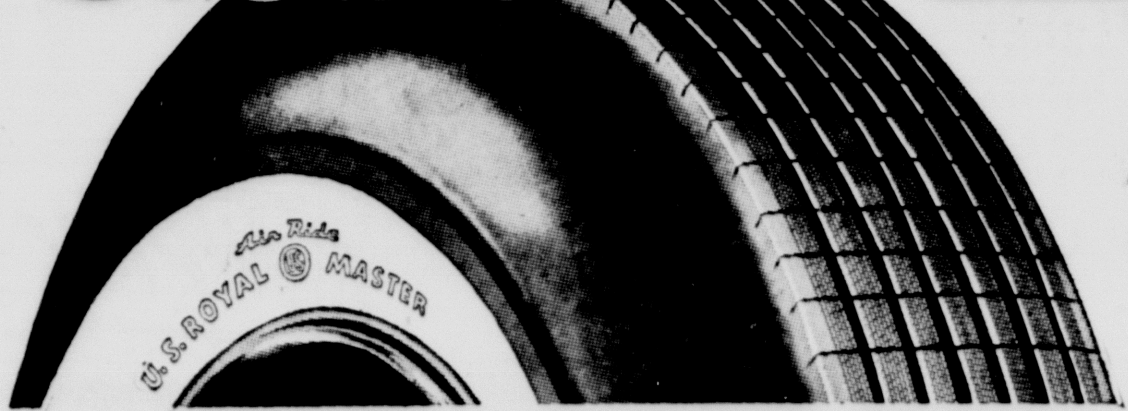

I think all of us feel that way. And there are two good rules to follow if we want to avoid this frustrating experience. When you make a call, allow the person you are calling at least a full minute to get to the phone. And when your own phone rings, answer as promptly as you can. In the long run, these two simple rules will save everyone's time and temper.

Since a telephone call is like paying a friendly visit, the same good manners should apply. A host doesn't ask the guest to leave. In the case of a telephone call it is up to the caller—not the "host"—to end the conversation. Generally speaking, you are safe if you simply say what you called to say, then end your conversation politely.
